POLITICAL GENERAL STAFF FOR WEST PROPOSED BY EDEN

WETHERBY, Eng. (AP)—Sir Anthony Eden proposed today that the Western nations set up a political general staff to deal with Communist pressure around the world.

Calling for greater unity in the West, the former British prime minister suggested that political representatives of four to six nations meet either in Paris or Washington.

Such a staff or its equivalent, Eden said, "will have to come some day. The sooner, the better our chances of survival. Then perhaps the West will cease reacting to events and start to shape them."

Fulton Blasts Herridge On Student 'Spy' Issue

Minister Backs RCMP Checks

OTTAWA (CP)—Justice Minister Fulton took strong exception today to what he termed "puffed up" and unsubstantiated charges by a CCF MP against methods used by the RCMP to keep a check on the Canadian Communist movement.

Mr. Fulton said in the Commons during study of his department's estimates that he regretted that H. W. Herridge (CCF—Kootenay West) had not consulted with either himself or his department before making "sensational" charges against RCMP security and intelligence work.

Mr. Herridge said students at Ottawa universities had told him they were being asked to act as "stool pigeons" by RCMP constables. They were being asked to "inform" on other students who might have Communist or leftist leanings.

RCMP officers, Mr. Herridge said, were asking students to "spy" on other students associated with the ban-the-bomb movement and even those interested in the CCF-New Party club.

"What do you think of that?" he said. The students had rejected the suggestions "with scorn."

WORK NECESSARY

Mr. Fulton said there should be some understanding about the security work of the RCMP. The work was necessary to enable the government to know the extent of the Communist threat in Canada.

The RCMP would be negligent in its duty if it turned a blind eye to the fact that the avowed objective of Canadian Communists is to infiltrate Canadian universities.

Friday Mr. Fulton declined to give the number of known Communists in Canada but said "we do have a Communist threat." (See in Parliament, Page 3.)

CAPTURED

Free for almost 11 months after being the first convict to escape from Stony Mountain Penitentiary in Manitoba, Percy Moggey, 56, was captured by the RCMP today at a log shack near Lundar, 75 miles northwest of Winnipeg. Moggey had been placed on the RCMP's "most wanted" list in January.

Audain May Be Released

VANCOUVER (CP)—A segregation-hating University of British Columbia student may shortly be released from a southern United States jail where he was sentenced for eating in the Negro section of a bus depot restaurant.

"But," said Michael Audain of Victoria in a telephone interview from Jackson, Miss., Friday, "if I was released today I would re-enter the colored facilities of the bus depot."

Audain was jailed Wednesday when convicted of charges of breach of the peace.

Great-great-grandson of James Dunsinuir, one of B.C.'s most colorful premiers and lieutenant-governors, Audain did not elaborate on plans being worked out by the federal justice department to free him.

AFTER THE STORM

Tornado-like winds wrecked 25 homes in a Baltimore subdivision Friday and damaged 25 others.

Freak storm hit without warning but no one was killed and only minor injuries were reported.

QUEEN MARKS BIRTHDAY

Spectacular Troop Review

LONDON (Reuters)—The Queen today took the salute in one of the world's most spectacular displays of military pomp—the trooping the color ceremony.

Poland Buys More Wheat On Credit

OTTAWA (CP) — Sale of another 3,750,000 bushels of wheat to Poland, on a credit basis was announced in the Commons today by Agriculture Minister Alvin Hamilton.

He said a contract for 100,000 tons was signed between the Canadian wheat board and officials of the Polish national trade organization. A contract for a similar amount was announced earlier this week.

Mr. Hamilton said the total amount under the two contracts is 7,500,000 bushels—all of it to be shipped during the current crop year which ends July 31.

SAME TERMS

He said the terms are the same as for the first contract—10 per cent cash with one-third of the balance payable two years after date of shipment, the next 2½ years after shipment and the remainder three years after shipment.

The Crown-owned Export Credits Insurance Corporation had been authorized by the government to provide insurance for the credit arrangements.

Poland is the fourth Communist country to buy Canadian wheat this year. The others are Red China, Russia and Czechoslovakia.

Thousands of Britons and tourists lined the huge Horse Guards parade ground as the Queen, riding a 10-year-old chestnut mare named Imperial, reviewed bearskin-hatted troops. The Queen rode side-saddle.

It was the 10th time since her accession that the Queen took the salute marking her official birthday. Her actual birthday came April 21 when she turned 35.

But today was the actual birthday of her husband, Prince Philip, who turned 40. Philip rode behind the Queen along Pall Mall to the Horse Guards parade ground about a mile from Buckingham Palace for the ceremony.

WEARS GUARDS UNIFORM

The Queen wore a scarlet Guards tunic with the tunic badge of the 2nd Battalion of the Scots Guards, chosen for today's ceremony.

The Queen Mother and Princess Anne drove in an open carriage from the palace. Surrounding the Queen was a sovereign's escort of the Household Cavalry, their gold helmets glinting in the bright sunshine.

The Queen and the trooping the color ceremony fascinated thousands of Moscow television today.

The reception of the first London-Moscow telecast was superb. The 80-minute telecast was in return for the telecast of the Moscow May Day parade when space man Maj. Yuri Gagarin returned in triumph to the Soviet capital.

TIME 'STANDS STILL' FOR QUEEN'S ARRIVAL

LONDON (UPI)—The versatile Scots Guards made time stand still today for Queen Elizabeth at the traditional "trooping of the colors" birthday parade.

By tradition the Queen arrives at the parade grounds on the stroke of 11. She left Buckingham Palace late today but the Scots Guard gallantly rose to the occasion.

An officer was dispatched to the tower. The hour came but no chiming rang out. Puzzled spectators looked at their watches and back at the clock.

Then the Queen came into view and the chiming rang out. The Scots Guards had stopped the clock—just long enough.

TORY MP SAYS

New Health Plan Delaying Budget

OTTAWA (UPI) — A Conservative source suggested today that the federal budget is being delayed to include some provision for an over-all national health plan.

A Saskatchewan member of Parliament told United Press International that the federal government was "in a race" with Saskatchewan Premier T. C. Douglas, the leading contender for the New Party federal leadership, to get a health insurance program on the statute books.

"The prime minister is not going to let us lose," the MP said.

The government took the first step toward establishing such a plan some time ago by appointing Saskatchewan Chief Justice Emmett Hall to head a royal commission study into the question.

Despite the apparent time lag needed to get its work under way, the Conservative MP said the Hall commission had been asked to provide the government with some estimate of its proposed recommendations in time for Finance Minister Donald Fleming's 1961-62 budget.

"It is vital that the government know the cost of the proposed plan so that it can make initial provision for it in the budget," the source said.

Mr. Brown, 40, chief of the

ON-TRACTORS

Castro Willing To Bargain

HAVANA (AP)—Fidel Castro said today he will receive a four-man bargaining team from the United States to work out details of swapping 1,200 captive Cuban rebels for 500 tractors.

But the prime minister raised anew his alternate proposal to trade the rebels captured in the April invasion for "political prisoners" held by the United States, Puerto Rico, Nicaragua and Guatemala.

Castro notified the U.S. Tractors-for-Freedom Committee that he would receive its technicians, provided they have full power to negotiate the tractor-prisoner exchange as "spelled out" by the Cuban prisoners' mission sent to the United States to broach his offer.

The Freedom Committee announced in Detroit its bargaining team will fly to Havana Monday.

PREFERS TOP MEN

In his note to the freedom group, Castro said he would have preferred leading members of the committee itself—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt and Milton Eisenhower—come to Havana, "but that is not indispensable."

He insisted, however, that the bargaining mission "must have powers to discuss the quality and amount of indemnification Cuba is asking."

"Your committee cannot decide by itself what kind of equipment Cuba is going to accept as compensation for all the material damage done by the aggressive actions launched from the United States against our country."

Wreckage Sighted

TOKYO (AP) — Wreckage and life rafts believed to be from a missing U.S. Air Force plane were reported Sunday to have been found in the Pacific. No trace was found of the eight crewmen.

LAST KERNEL SWEPT FROM SHIP'S HOLDS

VANCOUVER (CP)—Dockworkers say ships returning here to pick up their second grain loads for Communist China have the cleanest holds they have ever seen—swept of the last grain of wheat.

Crew members say even dust and chaff are carefully garnered by dockworkers in China so that no edible material will be wasted.

In North China ports where the Canadian grain is being unloaded, the work is done mainly by hand, long lines of men and women passing baskets from one to another, the sailors say.

Only in the case of converted oil tankers, where hand discharge is impossible, is the vacuum pump used.

MISSING

Police in Maryland have launched search for William H. Covington, 28, a low-grade clerk at the National Security Agency. He has been missing since Monday after last being seen at a race track. Police said he had no access to secrets.

WIRE BRIEFS

Adlai in Brazil

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (UPI) — Ambassador Adlai Stevenson arrived here today for conferences with Brazilian government leaders on his fact-finding mission to 10 South American republics.

Deserters Arrested

PARIS (UPI) — French police arrested 18 Moslem deserters from the French army on charges of taking part in a pre-dawn reign of terror in suburban Paris, it was reported today.

Appointments Soon

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Diefenbaker said today the new expanded board of directors of the Canadian National Railways will be appointed soon and will consider the corporation's management problems.

46 Injured in Blast

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — At least 46 persons were injured today when a burning gasoline tank truck exploded, spraying gasoline on several houses. Seven or eight houses on the fringe of the downtown district caught fire.

Sandbags 'Swallowed'

TRAIL (CP)—A large fissure opened up behind a Kootenay River dike Friday night and swallowed up 5,000 sandbags before the flow of water was checked.

Otherwise the dikes are holding their own.

IT'S EASY to see why the judges picked these two lovelies as winners in Friday night's competition for the title of Miss Sun Fun U.S.A. At left is Marcia De Sarro, Miss Florida, winner in the swim suit division and Beverly Peterson, Miss New Jersey, who was the standout in the evening dress competition. The finals are tonight. ## People and Things

(Times News Services)
NEW YORK—The magistrate was, understandably annoyed when patrolman Henry Ferrell interrupted court proceedings by shouting "hey, look!"

But Magistrate Kenneth Phipps and all others present looked through the courtroom window and saw three men climb a fire escape and enter a window in an apartment across the street.

Ferrell dashed from the courtroom. About 10 minutes later, he and two other patrolmen arrested three youths rifling the apartment.

When Ferrell returned to the courtroom, where he was to testify in a case, he apologized to Phipps.

"That is perfectly all right," the magistrate replied.

SYDNEY—A boys' school principal Friday appealed a fine of £20 ($44.80) for giving students the afternoon off to see the Melbourne Cup horse race on television.

ANN ARBOR, Mich.—Chheng Guan Lim, whose fear of flunking out drove him into hiding in a church loft for four years, will be among the 3,700 graduated by the University of Michigan next week.

The 30-year-old Chinese student will receive a bachelor's degree in history.

A native of Singapore, Chheng was at the university on student visa in 1955 when, ashamed of failing grades in engineering, he took up secret existence in the attic of Ann Arbor's First Methodist Church.

He was discovered by police investigating a prowler call at the church in 1959. Publicity about his plight brought private contributions which helped him to complete his education.

SAN DIEGO, Calif.—A young woman went to jail for making face at a judge who had convicted her brother of a minor traffic violation.

"You made a face at me," municipal Judge Robert Stanforth told Mrs. Mary Jean Deshotel, 20.

"I didn't know it was against the law to make a face," she retorted. "I always look like that."

Stanforth ordered her to spend 24 hours in jail for contempt; gave her two hours to think it over and, when she refused to apologize, said "Take her away."

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif.—Jose Iturbi today filed a $40,000 damage suit against Gregory Smith, 15, a neighbor, for allegedly shooting the pianist's cat, his pet for nine years.

SINGAPORE — Cyclist R. Muthukumaran, 23, completed 122 hours nonstop cycling here today and claimed a world record. The former milk vendor from India topped the 120 hours set by a Swiss cyclist in Rome 10 years ago.

More Subs Urged For RCN

TORONTO (CP)—Development of a Canadian submarine training fleet was recommended Friday by the Naval Officers' Associations of Canada.

Delegates from 24 NOAC branches across Canada at the annual meeting here endorsed a resolution calling for the commissioning of more subs to improve the efficiency of the Royal Canadian Navy's anti-submarine team.

The resolution noted the navy's role in the NATO defence scheme has been set as an anti-sub force and that recently the HMCS Grilse was acquired from the United States Navy for training purposes on the West Coast.

The Grilse, due at Esquimalt July 15, is the first sub commissioned in Canada for training service. The sub was formerly the USS Burfish.

Secession 'Possible' By Quebec

MONTREAL (CP)—Le Devoir reports today that nearly 70 per cent of the people who replied to its recent poll believe Quebec's independence from Canada is both possible and desirable.

Nearly 20 per cent believe it both undesirable and impossible.

The Montreal daily says 4,098 mailed in answers to the poll, but 69 ballots were discarded—62 of these because they had obviously been filled in en masse. Le Devoir has 40,000 to 42,000 subscribers and estimates readership at 100,000.

The poll posed two questions: Is the establishment of Quebec as an independent state desirable or not? And is it possible or not? Some who replied answered only one question.

Results showed 2,988, or 73.2 per cent of those who answered, thought independence desirable. A total of 2,968, or 74.7 per cent thought it possible.

Those who thought it both desirable and possible numbered 2,732, or 69.76 per cent. Those who thought it both undesirable and impossible numbered 777, or 19.84 per cent.

A total of 218, or 5.37 per cent, thought it desirable but impossible, and 189, or 4.83, thought it undesirable, but possible.

In a similar poll in March, La Presse found that 45 per cent of the 11,409 readers who replied favor Quebec's secession from Confederation.

MANY AILMENTS HAVE EMOTIONAL BASIS

Psychiatrists Can Help the Aged

MONTREAL (CP)—Many "illnesses" commonly associated with old age are really psychological problems that can be treated effectively, Dr. Martin Roth of England said Friday.

Drug or electric shock therapy can in a matter of days give an elderly person an entirely new attitude toward life, he said. The treatments can be effective for months or even years.

Addressing a session on old age at the third world congress of psychiatry, Dr. Roth told of a survey of 300 persons older than 65.

The study showed that 25 to 30 per cent of these persons had mental disorders of varying severity. Of these, a "high proportion" could have been helped psychiatrically if their condition had been known early enough.

Dr. Roth said only about five per cent of that age group usually are given psychiatric help.

There were three factors contributing to the old-age problem—social, physical and psychological.

The social problem could be countered by an enlightened community program, but there was little that could be done at the moment with the physical factor, degeneration of organs, senility or similar problems.

Psychologically, however, much could be done. Giving an old person a new outlook on life often gives him new emotional strength to overcome the handicaps of social or physical obstacles, Dr. Roth said.

The psychological problem most commonly met was general depression combined with anxiety. The object of treatment was to pull the patient out of his feeling of hopelessness and uselessness.

Protest From Japan

THE JAPANESE GOVERNMENT at last has repudiated the fiction of its "voluntary" export quotas in the Canadian market. These restrictions on Japanese trade, it says, were forced upon it by the government of Canada. But everyone knew that anyway.

The only new point in a blunt speech by the Japanese ambassador, Mr. Hagiwara, is that his government resents discrimination against Japanese goods. Of all Canada's foreign customers, only Japan has been forced to limit its exports to our market and to pretend, until now, that it agreed with this peculiar treatment.

Japan has never truly agreed but has accepted the Canadian government's discrimination because it saw no better alternative. There is an alternative, however, and the ambassador has indicated it to the Canadian people.

Japan does not have to buy largely in Canada and therefore does not have to sell largely either. Already, as the ambassador says, the Japanese government is being strongly urged by business interests to retaliate against Canadian restrictions.

If it is driven to that last step and restricts Canadian imports the loss will be mainly Canada's. We sold in Japan last year $68 millions more than we bought there. Since trade was re-established after the last war, Canada has always enjoyed a favorable balance in the Japanese market. During the last six years Japan has carried a total deficit of $500 millions in the Canadian market.

It does not expect, of course, an exact balance of trade but is dissatisfied with the present deal, mainly because we apply to Japan a policy applied to no other foreign nation—and pretend officially that our import restrictions are "voluntary" on Japan's part when they are made in Ottawa and enforced by compulsion.

All this violates the spirit if not the letter of our trade agreement with Japan under the non-discriminatory rules of GATT.

Accepting our policy for the time being, Japan has become Canada's fourth largest foreign customer, our second customer for wheat. Thousands of Canadians, many of them in the mines and woods of British Columbia, are dependent for their jobs on Japan's imports. If Japan begins to restrict them and retaliate against us, those workers will face unemployment.

Mr. Fleming, who arranged the import quotas and said they were quite satisfactory to Japan, evidently was surprised by the Japanese ambassador's public protest. The finance minister says he had no reason to suspect any dissatisfaction in Japan. If so, he has not been reading the Japanese press or talking to Japanese businessmen.

Everyone but the Canadian government has long realized that Japan would not permanently tolerate regulations not enforced against its competitors. The products which it buys from Canada can easily be bought elsewhere from nations willing to trade on an equitable basis. Canada has no special option in the large, rich and growing Japanese market.

Obviously Japan's resentment must be strong when, through its ambassador, it carries its case directly to the Canadian people. Will the Canadian government heed that warning? Or must our increasingly protectionist policy bring the inevitable result of dwindling foreign markets?

Answering the Mail

ONE OF THE INTERESTING facts revealed by campaign officials of the current Matson Sunset Lodge drive for the Salvation Army is that less than 10 per cent of the mailed appeals to householders have been returned.

In order to avoid a door-to-door canvass, the Sally Ann sent out something in excess of 40,000 pieces of literature, hand-addressed by an enthusiastic group of 400 volunteer women. Subsequently these letters were followed up by telephone calls, inviting residents to complete a cheque form and mail it to headquarters. Approximately 3,000 of these letters have been returned.

End of a Silly Incident

THE UNITED STATES HAS RESPONDED to Canadian representations by lifting its embargo on 10 suction pumps needed by certain freighters to unload a small portion of Canadian grain destined for Red China.

This is apparently the end of a silly piece of business which the Washington Post, criticizing American officialdom, calls "a boneheaded interpretation of the laws"—the Trading with the Enemy Act.

Canada has never contemplated a ban on trade with China in non-strategic materials. Nor does the United States intend to try to stop

It is likely that this short-fall is more attributable to pleasant summer weather and holiday pursuits than to neglect, for the campaign has proved all over again that the Salvation Army has a firm hold on the affections of people in this community. Those who have responded have done so generously.

The fact remains that the Sally Ann is still many thousands of dollars short of its goal of $245,000. Consideration of the mailed appeal—or of the cheque form printed in this newspaper today—will help this fine organization achieve the success it deserves.

such Canadian trade. This is strictly the domestic business of Canada. Mr. Diefenbaker took the logical and proper position when he announced this country's intention of carrying out its commitment to China.

A large number of Americans, many of them in high places, will agree tacitly with the Washington Post description of the embargo—and in agreement will join the Post in regretting an irritating incident that could have reduced to some extent the friendly sentiments on either side of the border increased by President Kennedy's recent visit.

'Trailers Here to Stay'

MR. J. E. BROWN, DEPUTY minister of municipal affairs, says that "for better or for worse, mobile homes are with us to stay."

He wonders why some municipalities haven't attempted means of imposing taxes on them and he emphasizes the necessity of proper siting for such encampments.

Apparently, from the remarks of one of his hearers at the annual meeting of municipal officers from various parts of British Columbia, it is difficult under existing legislation to devise a workable tax.

If this is the case, then surely the provincial government should amend its legislation to bring trailer dwellers under a form of municipal taxation that is reasonable.

On the other point, siting, motorists using the Island Highway are only too keenly aware of existing inadequacies. Whether trailers are attractive or not to their occupants, many of the sites are merely hideous to the person passing by. A child, playing with empty tomato cans, could present as pleasing a spectacle in arrangement as do some of the trailer concentrations now in use. The authorities seem to have given no thought to aesthetics when permitting their creation.

But this is only one feature of the trailer camp which governments, municipal and provincial, should take into consideration. For the future health of society in general, the authorities should give thought to the effect that living in such surroundings—one aluminum container stacked next to another—will eventually have on the children raised in them.

Send In the Marines?

IN THE ABORTIVE CUBAN AFFAIR, most thinking Americans seemed to agree on one point: The time is past when that nation can send in the United States Marines to settle its problems in Latin-American countries.

Mr. John G. Tower, first Republican senator sent to Washington by Texas since reconstruction days following the Civil War, says the time is near when the United States "must invade Cuba."

This leaves friends of the United States with a conundrum. Is Mr. Tower a realist? Or are a lot of Texas voters thinking in terms of distant reconstruction days?

By FREEMAN KING

At low tide on the long, sloping, boulder-strewn beach at Whiffen Spit, Sooke, can be found many interesting things.

In the pools left by the receding tide, sheltering amongst the wreck or under stones, you can find many creatures that are waiting for the return of the water so that they may continue their hunt for food.

The sea weeds and boulders provide shelter against predators as well as a place to stalk the prey, for the sea knows no mercy: it is the age-old survival of the fittest, to be eaten or to eat.

Crabs, sponges, sea worms, nudibranchia and many, many other creatures of the sea can be found.

Each of the sea animals depends upon another for its very existence, and in turn all will go back to the sea and so become a part of it, bringing forth life again.

All these wonderful creatures that have been in the sea since the beginning of life on the earth depend upon the tides to bring the food that is necessary for them, also to provide the darkness that most of them need. They do not like the bright light of the sun.

Each tide has its own particular group of living creatures, from the highest "spring" tides to the lowest level, each taking its place in the scheme of things.

The Hard Reality of Soviet Technique Has Been Obscured

"SOMBRE" was the word which President Kennedy used, to sum up and characterize his meeting with Nikita S. Khrushchev. It is also the best word, alas, to characterize this reporter's impressions at the close of a long journey that began in Thailand and Laos and ended in Vienna and London. In situation after melancholy situation, a single, simple, central fact stood out. The leaders of the West, apparently including the new leader of the United States, have not found the answer to the new brand of brinkmanship which Khrushchev is practising all over the world. In essence, the technique being used is everywhere the same, at Berlin and in Laos and South Vietnam. With the most careful calculation, moves are made, or in the case of Berlin, moves are threatened, which are not overtly military in character. But these moves leave the Western allies with no choices open to them, except to make an overtly military riposte, or to accept the loss of a vital position.

A vast amount of woolly nonsense has been talked and written about the Soviet moves, and the hard reality of the Soviet technique has been obscured thereby. In Laos, for instance, all sorts of criticisms have been leveled at past American policy there, mainly by persons who have never been near Laos. But the fact is that the non-Communist Laotians, whom the American government backed, invariably had the upper hand in the struggle against the Communist Laotians. The non-Communists were defeated, in fact, solely because the Communists were massively reinforced, not only by Soviet military supplies, but also by thousands of border-crossers from North Vietnam.

The Soviet military supplies would have been wholly ineffective if the borders of Laos had not also been grossly violated. But the border-crossers, though trained troops, made their way into Laos obscurely, in guerrilla guise.

Under the strange double standard rules now widely accepted, this kind of border crossing is not classified as aggression. But there was no answer to it, and no way to save Laos, except a direct military riposte.

In South Vietnam, too, an arrogantly flagrant attack has been launched against the regime of President Ngo Dinh Diem. Here, the political wolf merchants, instead of denouncing American policy, have leveled their criticisms at President Diem.

His government, they say, usually

"... What d'you mean, 'Why don't I work in a couple of seagulls?' ... This is a seagull ... Can't you feel the tug of wings ... the implied flight ... the unfettered ascent from primeval earth curve ..."

By JOSEPH ALSOP

without having visited South Vietnam, is corrupt, repressive, and unpopular. In reality, it is a pretty good government by Asian standards, and certainly immeasurably better than the bleak concentration camp which is Communist North Vietnam.

The Diem government is being attacked by the North Vietnamese, in truth, because Diem was making altogether too much progress to suit the Communists. The methods here are the same as in Laos—massive border crossing, open financing and supply of a guerrilla movement, and everything else but a formal invasion of South Vietnam by the North Vietnamese army.

President Diem may yet succeed in beating off this attack. But it is also quite possible that the time may come when the only way to save South Vietnam will be a direct military riposte.

Before the double standard was introduced into the rules of world politics, there would have been no question about the justice of a military riposte in both these cases. Furthermore, the riposte by the allies of Laos and North Vietnam would not have taken the form of local entanglement in difficult guerrilla warfare.

The riposte would have been made against the source of the trouble, North Vietnam itself. But this possibility, thus far, does not even seem to have been weighed.

The exact parallelism of the case of Berlin with the two Southeast Asian cases is startling, once you analyze the position there. Once again, the Soviets are contemplating a move that is not overtly military—the signature of a peace treaty with the Communist East Germans.

But this move, if unopposed, is quite certain to extinguish the freedom of West Berlin, so often and so secretly guaranteed by the Western allies. And once again, there is no effective answer, and therefore no way to save West Berlin, except to be ready to make a military riposte.

Thus the question really is whether the United States and the other Western allies are prepared to use force, if need be, in order to defend vital positions which are imperilled by Khrushchev's new technique of brinkmanship.

It must be noted, of course, that this technique really depends on a special kind of application of Communist military power. It must also be noted that the same technique can be fruitfully used by the Kremlin in all sorts of areas where it has not been used as yet.

If no new answer to the technique is found, and the West remains unprepared to fight for vital positions, the future is likely to hold a cumulative sequence of resounding Western defeats. (C) 1961 New York Herald Tribune Inc.

They May Chafe at Delay, But Quebec Is Not Yet Ready

SOME day an historian will write a vivid and coherent study of Quebec in the year 1961, a year of political and social upheaval. Those familiar with the province say the pressures and tensions now at work are severe, and the outward manifestations give every evidence that this is so. Only last year Quebec voters turned out the Union Nationale government, a highly reactionary government dedicated to the old ways and the old systems. In its place, they elected the Liberals, under Jean Lesage, who offered a program that was revolutionary by U.N. standards.

It was widely believed at the time that, with the death of Maurice Duplessis, and the crumbling of his autocratic dynasty, the people of Quebec were finally prepared to come to grips with the industrial revolution. Anticlericalism was rampant, and youth demanded more than the opportunity to spend a life on a portion of the family farm.

Jean Lesage and many of the young intellectuals associated with him interpreted the Liberal victory as a mandate for sweeping change. They embarked on a program of reform that turned the province on its ear.

Now many are wondering if it isn't time for a slowdown. Lesage's people are worried they may have moved too fast, and are losing popularity as a consequence. In recent weeks, Mr. Lesage has pulled back, to a degree.

One of the most publicized results of Quebec's swing to the left has been a counter-balancing swing to the right. Almost every day a new association or organization springs to life to preach a return to the old ways.

The case of Dr. Marcel Chaput is symptomatic of the current ills of Quebec. Dr. Chaput works for the federal government as a scientist engaged by the Defence Research Board. At night, he labors for an organization which calls itself the Rassemblement pour l'Indépendance Nationale.

Its goal: independence for Quebec, which would involve secession from Confederation, and the establishment of a republican government in that province.

Some of Dr. Chaput's superiors, notably the acting head of DRB, Dr. J. E. Keyston, are enraged at his after-hours activities. A statement from Dr. Keyston to the effect that Dr. Chaput's statements were "inconsistent with his position as a federal government employee" fell on deaf ears. Dr. Chaput is still talking to public audiences on the subject of independence for his native province.

The fact he has not been fired as yet testifies to the strength of the forces of reaction in Quebec. Government officials say they "don't want to make a martyr out of him." Dr. Chaput's friends are ready, too. They formed a committee of five to put up the money with which to appeal any attempt to dismiss him.

Civil servants are not allowed to engage in political activity, and Dr. Chaput is a civil servant. It may well be true, in the technical sense, that he is not engaging in political activity, since his is not a political party in the narrow sense.

But if he had been trumpeting another cause, he would have been fired on the spot.

The fact is that although a majority of Quebec residents do want to move into the 20th century, a sizeable minority wants things to remain as they are. The inheritors of a proud French-Canadian tradition do not want to cast out their old gods and install new gods overnight.

Dr. Chaput and his associates are doomed to failure in their efforts to win support for secession. But they cannot be ignored, and their motives must be understood. They are not villains, merely the products of their past.

The lesson for politicians is an old rule, that evolution is superior in every way to revolution. Mr. Lesage, and federal politicians who need the support of Quebec, may chafe at delay, but Quebec is not yet ready.

SOME OF US ARE GROWING UP

Ten Years Ago There Would Have Been No Outcry

THIS time last week I was up in the Kootenays distributing prizes and platitudes with a facility that would have taken me a long way in the used-car business. Whatever the audience may have thought of the originality and sincerity of my remarks, there was no doubting the warmth of my handshake. The thermometer stood at 88 degrees Fahrenheit in the exiguous shade inside the auditorium (I assume the word has been around long enough to be anglicized) of Nelson and Castlegar the conditions were such as would have brought a grin of pure delight to the countenance of Suraj-ud-Daula.

If you know the Kootenays at all you will readily understand that I came back to Victoria prepared to mint a thousand words or so of shimmering verbal bullion about the Bonnington Falls and the great rock that broods over the ferry at Robson: the top of Mt. Liki as it appears to the swimmer immersed in the hot springs at Ainsworth, and the beauty of Queen's Bay. I had some sure-fire human interest stuff about the hospitality of the people up there, where the milk of human kindness runs thick as cottage cheese, and some weighty words scribbled on a celluloid cuff about the Doughbobs. The whole thing, compounded of equal parts of Sir Walter Scott, H. V. Morton, D. H. Lawrence and "Travelogue" Fitzpatrick, would have taken your breath away and set back the development of straightforward, simple prose a good fifty years.

One way and another hydraulics provided a frequent topic of conversation during the trip. The fast run-off caused by the prevailing heat was already causing concern, and in Castlegar messengers arrived at frequent intervals bringing news of rising waters and cancelled services. The atmosphere was reminiscent of Lucknow, Bastogne or Dien-Bien-Phu.

I had caught myself several times experiencing keen pleasure at the sight of waterfalls, especially the spectacular torrent at Bonnington, and I had made a note to ask Bill Gaddes what the Viennese have to say about this. (Do they call it "wassermania," I wondered.)

I thought it would work in well with a few things I wanted to say about the fountain that Jack Harman has done for the new graduate centre at U.B.C., and I filed it away behind Sophia Loren in my mind.

Now circumstances over which I, more's the pity, have no control have brought the question of fountains into sharp focus. As if we didn't have enough anemic statuary in our city already, Mr. Chant proposes to make us a gift of a little something whopped up by one of his back-room Berniniks.

It makes a striking tableau. In the centre one of Sid Barron's seagulls is flying close cover for his half-section who is peeling off to strafe a couple of sea-otters, one of which is peering apprehensively over his shoulder while his mate is gloomily resigned to his fate—perhaps he thinks, famous last thing, that it is One of Ours.

Riding round in a tight circle like Indian extras in "Gunsmoke" are: an eagle escaped from a nineteenth-century lectern, one of Thurber's equivocal birds, a bear off a vodka label, and what looks like one of Al Capp's "fatcoerases," but is actually, so the Morning Clarion says, a wolf. If only the central figures were beavers we could call it "Castors' Last Stand."

But that is not all. "Plaques setting out historical facts will be mounted on the fountain."

I like to think that under the wolf will appear some pertinent facts about King Henry VIII and King Charles II and Tommy Manville, while the bear's raised paw directs our attention to some salient passages of Russian history.

I am against this rapid little bronze zoo for several reasons. It is a selfish gift which will do little for Victoria as a city, however much it may please the toilers in James Bay.

It is the kind of "sculpture" that one is accustomed to see carried out in chocolate or butter at great international exhibitions, whereof one marvels at the ingenuity of the technical accomplishment while rejoicing at the essential im-permanence of the exhibit as a whole. It does not deserve to be perpetuated in bronze.

It is a tragic waste of a golden opportunity for the provincial government to play patron to the least appreciated and most undernourished of all the arts in Canada.

It will be held by succeeding generations to typify the taste in art of the citizens of Victoria in 1962, and I don't think that is fair to you or to me. (The French call this sort of junk "fireman's art," which is unjust to a fine body of men.)

If you are sufficiently half-witted you will say, "But that's just your opinion. People don't agree about art."

No, sir, they don't. So what does the wise man do? He calls in the experts. Who are they? Well, we have two art galleries and one university department of fine arts in the province. If the professionals who head these institutions are not the best judges in artistic matters, what did we hire them for?

This woebegone zoomorphic water-squirter shows two things: One, the flabby degeneracy of official "civilized" art compared with the imaginative and vital treatment of the same subjects by "savages"; a couple of hundred yards away from where it will be placed. Two, that there are some people ready to protest at this expensive folly. Ten years ago there would have been no outcry. Some of us, at least, are growing up.

As Our Readers See It

Fountain Battle

Who is Robert Savery? It is easy to see that he is a man who sees a bird and a beast as the general multitude sees a bird and a beast, and why all the shouting about seagulls? Are they not synonymous with Victoria?

No, Robert Savery may not be remembered amongst the giants of this Henry Moore age, but at least he will not cause speculation from the viewers—British Columbians and tourists alike—as to whether the fountain should be viewed from the horizontal, perpendicular, vertical, or what have you.

Perhaps in the light of current events he should include a cougar 'couchant' and a policeman 'en garde,' though this would only add to the controversy. Should the policeman be shown astride a motorcycle or seated in what U.S. model motor car?

Public-Spirited

As one who was closely involved with the drive to secure a University of Victoria at Gordon Head may I be permitted to emphasize the tremendous contribution that has now been made by the Hudson's Bay Company towards that achievement.

For well over 100 years—since the building of the old Fort itself—we of Victoria have had manifest cause to be thankful to the great mercantile company whose history in the West so closely parallels our city's.

Now, in what is possibly the most exciting development in this community's history, the Hudson's Bay Company has—once again—proven itself a great and good friend. Its decision to release its 145 acres at Gordon Head at a price so fair and reasonable it is a fine example of public spiritedness for which all of us are in debt.

It is the sincere hope of many of us that the University Development Board will be able to perpetuate the memory of this great and generous act by some fitting physical reminder on the new campus. In this way the future generations who study there will be encouraged to recall with gratitude the contribution made by Hudson's Bay Company to the future of Canadian youth.

'Wind of Change' Needed

Appropos the leading editorial in the Times of June 5: To quote from the fifth paragraph... "If we bought more Japanese goods at large savings to the Canadian people"; many of us know, Mr. Editor, the depths that some Canadian merchants have sunk to in order that the Japanese goods shall not so reach the Canadian buyer.

Eminent economists of the U.S.A. cheerfully stated that there would never be another depression comparable to that of the not so distant past. It seems to be overlooked that the goods imported now from foreign countries come mainly from subsidiaries of the U.S.A. established in practically every country in the world. The goods are all produced by cheap labor and automation and therefore provide pyramidal profits for those who are already overburdened with this world's wealth.

Behind all the facade of so-called social welfare there are masses of people in this country—small income groups, old age pensioners who do not belong to the wealthy stratum, and will not degrade themselves through a "means" test and who are wondering how much longer they will be able to exist under the so-called suffocating atmosphere emanating from the flaunted "highest living standard of the world"—ignoring the poignant factor, if one has the price.

High living on a war economy, and banqueting on "fear," is a sorry type of "civilization" for the so-called backward people to witness; it would seem that "the wind of change" is sorely needed in this so-called "free" world to drive away the odor of decay.

ELLEN HART.

Not Us

Both myself and Mr. B. K. Dharney, another solicitor, who both happen to have some "East-Indian" background, have seen a Canadian Press report in the Vancouver Province of May 25, 1961, intitled "East Indians not used as slaves etc."

I have been informed that this reporting originated from your newspaper in Victoria.

It is unfortunate that your report does not go as far as naming the "lawyer," but just says "a lawyer," which the writer feels could be derogatory to the reputation of any lawyer in the profession.

In as much as the word lawyer is tied up with "East Indians"—both myself and Mr. Dharney feel that we should on our part clearly inform you that neither myself nor Mr. Dharney have anything to do with such organization as your article referred to.

Whoever the "lawyer" and which ever the "organization," Mr. Dharney and myself feel we should be on the record as completely dissociated and unconnected with the "organization," in the circumstances of this whole matter.

Church Comparisons

A few weeks ago the question was asked of the Times: "Which was the strongest Protestant denomination in Canada." Your paper answered that the Church of England was the strongest. I believe that figures of membership were quoted at this time.

I would like to draw to the attention of your readers the fact, that—quoting membership statistics is not always accurate, as different church bodies count their memberships in different ways. May I point out that the Dominion Statistics report—which is certainly unbiased gives the following figures:

Anglican	1,639,075	1,754,368	2,060,720
U.C. of C.	2,021,065	2,208,658	2,867,271

My information tells me that the Anglican Church includes, as members, all of those that have been baptized—including infants; while the membership of the United Church is only adults who have been received into full membership or confirmed. The confirmed membership of the Church of England in 1958 was 609,500. The confirmed membership of the United Church of Canada in 1958 was 980,461.

TALKS SET FOR LATER THIS MONTH

(Times Ottawa Bureau)

OTTAWA—Canada's concern over possible British membership in the European Common Market will be aired here June 26 and 27 at a meeting of the U.K.-Canada continuing committee on economic affairs.

Immediately following that conference of British and Canadian trade officials, a meeting is tentatively scheduled for Ottawa with a senior member of the British cabinet on June 28 and 29.

He is expected to sound out Canada's reaction to a British decision to throw its lot in with the European trading bloc.

The British minister visiting Ottawa may be Commonwealth Relations Secretary Duncan Sands. Canadian trade officials said that tentatively the dates of June 28 and 29 have been scheduled for the British minister's visit.

TRADE MEET

Dief's Plan Backed

LONDON (Reuters)—New Zealand, Australia and Malaysia are expected to back Prime Minister Diefenbaker's call for a top-level Commonwealth conference to study the problems of Britain's entry into the European Common Market, sources in the three countries said today.

The Australasian Commonwealth countries depend on exporting raw materials and foodstuffs to Britain in return for finished industrial goods on a preferential basis. Britain would be expected to buy European agriculture if it joined the Common Market.

Informed sources in New Zealand said today if Diefenbaker's suggestion concealed a more liberal Canadian attitude to the setting up of a compensating political and economic association of the Pacific, the government would readily accept a top-level parity.

CONCERNED OVER MOVE
Government food producer boards in Wellington look with acute concern on the possible British move. All-out efforts to find alternative markets for New Zealand's agriculture so far have failed.

Observers in Canberra said Australia is regarded as certain to support Diefenbaker's suggestion for a conference.

They said the effects of British participation in Common Market agricultural protection policies is a vital concern to Australia.

Malaya, an exporter of raw industrial materials, has expressed no particular fears at British association with the Common Market—which is composed of West Germany, Italy, France, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg.

BEFORE THE JUDGE

Vote No!

AS if the cougar incident were not enough excitement for the week, Victoria is in the midst of celebrating one of its periodic controversies. And this one is shaping up into a real doozy.

SILENUS

Flashed by success in the fields of street lighting and park horse preserving, the citizens are again manning the barricades. This time it is about a fountain.

Or rather, the possibility of a fountain. For the thing is as yet no more than a chance remark dropped by the minister of public works.

On the other hand, in Victoria these things are considered to be facts in being, and consequently proper material for a controversy.

Several sharp skirmishes have already taken place between the dedicated and the crass, and everyone will soon have to stand up and be counted. In anticipation of an increase in the tempo of events, it might be well to have a look at the issues of the controversy, before they become lost in the general zest of battle.

It seems (according to the minister's hint) that the provincial government wants to install a fountain at the back of the Parliament Buildings, and then give it to the city. Whether or not anyone has asked the city if it wants a fountain, even one behind the Buildings, has not been revealed.

U.S., CANADIAN LEGISLATORS

Agree on NATO, Berlin; Differ on China, Cuba

By HAROLD MORRISON

WASHINGTON (CP)—

United States legislators, meeting with Canadians, have warned that admittance of Communist China to the United Nations might lead to strong domestic pressures that the United States boycott the world body.

Canadian legislators, touching on prospects for Canada joining the 21-country Organization of American States, suggested such membership might embarrass the U.S. There might be occasions when Canada might have to split with her neighbor on major policy.

Reflecting some elements of cross-border political agreement on world issues, the 48 members of the Canada-U.S. Interparliamentary group ended a two-day conference strongly united on the view that the West must show a mailed fist against Communist aggression. But the federal delegates, representing all major political parties, failed to agree on how to approach the Communist problem in an uneasy period of peace.

They agreed that the conventional strength of the 15-country North Atlantic alliance must be increased and that West Berlin should be defended even if this means use of nuclear weapons. But they split on the question of trading with Red China and how the Communist situation in Cuba should be handled.

On the Berlin issue, they said in a communiqué "it was recognized that if the Soviet Union moved at any time in force to cut off access to West Berlin, NATO would be ready to respond with nuclear weapons."

This reference to "nuclear weapons" was changed later by the co-chairman to "necessary force" but they emphasized that the delegates are agreed to endorse use of nuclear weapons if commanders felt this necessary.

Heading the Canadian group were Senate Speaker Mark Drouin and Commons Speaker Roland Michener. Leading the 24 Americans were Congressman Cornelius Gallagher, New York Democrat, and Senator George Aiken, Vermont Republican.

DISAGREE ON CHINA

Touching on the Red China issue, Canadians argued that the trade with the Chinese mainland in non-strategic goods builds up a reservoir of goodwill in China that will be a long-term benefit to the West. Some American members countered that trade with Red China merely strengthens the Chinese position in Asia and raises "moral issues on which the United States public feels deeply."

Both sides agreed that the issue whether Red China is to get a seat at the UN likely will come up at the General Assembly in New York next fall.

Americans pointed out that a seat for the Reds would be interpreted in many American places "as an act of appeasement and might lead to strong demands that the United States leave the UN."

There also were differing views on the Cuban issue. Both sides agreed Communist influence in Cuba is presenting a serious hemisphere threat.

WEEKEND WEATHER PICTURE ACROSS CANADA

SYNOPSIS—A Pacific weather system is causing rain and gales along the north coast of B.C. and the west coast of Vancouver Island. Slowing down of this system has delayed the onset of rain further south and east. A disturbance marking the change to showery weather and decreasing winds now appears likely to cross the south coast of the province early Sunday morning. It is unlikely to reach the Kootenays before Sunday evening.

A WRITER'S DIARY

By ROBERTSON DAVIES

When I set out on my recent journeyings, I made a stern resolve to take one book, and one alone, with me, for my greatest vice as a traveller is that I lug small libraries with me wherever I go, to the annoyance of porters and sometimes of myself.

The question was—what book was it to be? What book can suit every mood, be read in scraps, and never be a bore? After much pondering, mental anguish and prayer, I took a thin-paper copy of The Life of Samuel Johnson, LL.D., by James Boswell.

It was a magnificent travelling companion.

Every now and then I meet people who know nothing about Johnson, and am at a loss to explain his greatness to them.

It is not enough to say that he was the man who, in 1775, produced single-handed, not the first, but the first practical, English Dictionary, and that he was a great editor of Shakespeare, and the author of a series of brilliant lives of English poets.

People who have never heard of him before are not impressed by that sort of thing.

Neglected Art of Conversation

But when I say that he was one of the greatest talkers and wits that the English-speaking world has ever known, they prick up their ears.

If I repeat a few of Johnson's remarks, they are very often 'hooked,' as my 'drug-taking' friends say, and want to read Boswell for themselves.

The world is never over-supplied with good talkers. Not many people understand the art of conversation, though its rules are few. The first rule is that you must listen to what is said to you, and not spend the time when others are talking thinking of what you are going to say next. The second rule is that you must let everybody have a fair turn, and not corner the conversation.

Dr. Samuel Johnson was a master of all these rules, and all their manifold refinements. Although he was widely admired as a philosopher, he would talk easily and well on trifling, and even absurd subjects.

On Being Alone With a Baby

When Boswell asked him what he would do if he were locked up in a castle with a baby, he was ready to give his whole mind to the matter. "Why, sir," he began, "I should not much like my company."

But then his mind began to work upon the subject, and he explained that he would feed the child, and give it plenty of fresh air, and wash it much "with warm water to please it, not with cold water to give it pain."

When Boswell suggested that the warm water might dangerously relax the infant, the great man developed his theme: "Sir, you are not to imagine the water is to be very hot; I would not coddle the child."

He also made it clear that he would not attempt to teach the child anything; he liked teaching men but he had no opinion of himself as a teacher of children.

Similarly the Doctor was ready to give serious consideration to Boswell's question as to why he did not wear a night-cap: "Perhaps no man will ever know whether it is best to sleep with or without a night-cap," said he, after pondering the matter.

For our knowledge of Johnson's formidable, yet delightful personality we owe an incalculable debt to James Boswell. Time and again this intrepid Scot would put his head into the lion's mouth, and emerge badly chewed, in order to evoke some strong expression of opinion from his mighty friend.

For years Boswell was regarded as rather a ninny; he did foolish things and said foolish things, and recorded them without shame. But within the last 15 years a vast store of Boswell's personal papers has been found, which explains to us why Johnson tolerated and indeed loved him. Boswell was not a very wise man, but he was a man of great heart, and Johnson, like many lonely and learned men, longed for affection.

ART IN REVIEW By ARTHUR CORRY

Experts Could Help To Avoid Art 'Goof'

In the days of Michelangelo when a church, city, or state, wanted to erect a monument to glorify an event or person, the foremost artists of the country were called upon to submit models.

In these clay models, designed by "master" sculptors, goldsmiths, or painters, the best artistic endeavours of the country were presented and the finest work was then developed in gold, bronze or marble.

The artist, thus encouraged, was able to create masterpieces that are awe-inspiring and "living", even to this day.

I have always believed this to be the ideal way to produce the best in Canadian culture and art, and feel that the Dominion, provincial and even local governments should encourage the creative arts and artists in this manner. To mark Victoria's Centenary in 1962, a fountain, featuring B.C. animals, will be built at the rear of the Legislative Building.

Corry

QUESTIONABLE

This announcement last Tuesday came as a complete surprise, as did the picture of the proposed fountain! To quote the publication, "... It will be as artistic a fountain as you can find anywhere."

To this statement I must voice protest! On my travels in England and continental Europe, I never once saw a fountain so ill-designed or lacking in artistic beauty as this. Of course, I have only seen a picture of the model and it is possible the "artistic beauty" is not being revealed to me.

With due respect to those in charge of this project, I feel it is time to consult authorities who have made a life study in the "artistic" field, like Dr. Dale of the Vancouver Art Gallery, or our own curator, Colin Graham.

These men would not presume to tell the government how to run its business, but their advice in the art field might save a $45,000 mistake.

This weekend will be the last opportunity to see "Vancouver and the Sea," an exhibition of paintings by the younger members of the Vancouver Branch of the Federation of Artists.

Derek Seddon, I think, is one of the outstanding artists in this show. His "Coastal Landscape" is particularly fine and "Landscape With Gathering Storm" is excellent.

"Fall Forms," by Reg Holmes, is just a little too much like paintings by Shadbolt, although it is very well executed.

A portrait of "Wendy," in oil, by Olga Tomlinson, has a free and easy style, using shades of brown on a gold background, with an orange cushion as an accent. A good composition and altogether a pleasing portrait.

An impressionistic type painting, "Dry Dock," by Rudy Hodgins, is well constructed, but has a rather disturbing sky.

"Fraser River" I found very interesting, painted in tempera by Jim Tickle. His "Rain on Granville Street" lacks a good composition, but certainly creates the feeling of a downpour on a crowded city street.

YOUNG CANADA BOOKSHELF

ADVENTURES IN LIVING, by Dr. John R. Tuck, Vantage Press, New York, price $2.75.

The heartwarming reminiscences of Dr. Tuck in his book "Adventures in Living" are really three stories in a single book.

In the first, the author describes many of his boyhood adventures in and around the scenic wonders of Niagara interspersed with numerous fascinating incidents.

He also gives historic glimpses of fur trading days of the fabulous days of the gold rush of '38... customs and crafts of Eskimo in the far north... interesting and little known facts on the glacial age, on clothing, food, houses, with a final chapter on the new St. Lawrence Seaway.

Dr. Samuel Johnson was a master of all these rules, and all their manifold refinements. Although he was widely admired as a philosopher, he would talk easily and well on trifling, and even absurd subjects.

The second story is an imaginative one which takes place in a quaint European village.

In the third he tells of the young life of a boy refreshingly alive to the wonders about him. In reality it is the author's own childhood on an Ontario farm in which he relives his youthful pleasures with renewed meaning.

The author's love of his native country makes a deep impression on the reader. Pride in Canada's development and the national character of the people and their customs have given to the book a depth of sincerity that is of significant value.—M.L.

"FOOTBALL REBELS" by Jackson Scholz, Geo. J. McLeod, $3.50.

In another of his action packed sports stories the author describes the determination young Clint displays in organizing an amateur football team at college. The plot tells how he overcame the opposition of the powerful Athletic Association whose policies of sponsoring candidates with athletic scholarships, formed the football minded student body into opposing factions.

This latest of many sports yarns by Jackson Scholz is full of excitement and thrills that should satisfy eager young football fans. With added humor it is a tale well told, holding suspense and interest till the end.

Literary Nooks and Corners Explored for 'the Clerisy'

A VOICE FROM THE ATTIC, Robertson Davies; McClelland & Stewart, 360 pp.

REVIEWED BY DR. RALPH F. B. KING (Head of Dept. of English, Canadian Services College, Royal Roads.)

Followers of Robertson Davies' weekly column in the Times, "A Writer's Diary," will enjoy this latest ramble into "a few odd nooks and corners" of literature. Like his column, the essays, notes, and digressions in this volume, which are loosely grouped around eight themes for continuous or desultory reading, are addressed to the group of readers whom he calls "the clerisy."

These are the readers, found amongst both critics and laymen, who read "for pleasure and with some pretension to taste," who wish "to have a book" and not merely "to read" one, no matter how.

"The clerisy are those who read for pleasure, but not for idleness; who read for pastime but not to kill time; who love books, but do not live by books. A Voice From the Attic is an attempt to arouse the clerisy to regain its sovereignty in the world of letters.

AGE OF SPEED

In this day and age, when we are frequently challenged to increase our reading speed to the point at which the hand turning the page can hardly keep pace with the rapidly moving eye, it is refreshing to be reminded that some books are to be savored and digested.

While Davies recognizes that much "business" reading should be done as fast as it can be comprehended, he directs his remarks chiefly to those readers who "read for something more subtle than simple understanding": "for pleasure, for emotional and intellectual extension, for the exercise of sensibility."

Writing from the vantage-point of Canada, "America's attic," Davies feels that as a critic he is especially blessed: "Because I am a Canadian, my outlook may possess some novelty for readers in the United States, for my country sees not only the greater part of the books produced in yours but those published in Great Britain as well—not to speak of our own books."

With such an audience in mind, he retrieves many volumes from the attic of forgotten books. He surveys and often ridicules, for example, some of the many books which undertake to instruct the "ambitious, the hypochondriac and the unsure" in the art of "enjoying and enduring" life.

The reader will be amazed to learn that there is such a large literature on this subject. Beginning with Samuel Smiles' Self-Help (1859), he moves on to Live Longer and Enjoy Life by Dr. Peter Steinbock, an early Dr. Walter Alvarez.

He concludes this section with a sharply satirical treatment of Overstreet's The Mind Alive, Mrs. Dale Carnegie's

How to Help Your Husband Get Ahead, and Norman Vincent Peale's The Power of Positive Thinking.

A survey of several 18th-century manuals of sex instruction causes him to remark on "the immense blanket of humbug (but immensely interesting) which has been lifted from the human mind."

From sex (or lack of it) in the Victorian novel, he reaches, by way of Jung and Freud, sex in the modern novel and the cult of the Yahoo hero.

HOW TO READ PLAYS

After resurrecting several now-forgotten novels of the last century, he offers illuminating observations on the value of illustrations in Victorian novels.

In a very sound section on how to read drama, after asserting that reading plays in one's study is always second best to seeing them alive in the theatre, he explains how the reader who employs his dramatic imagination can derive much enjoyment from the text of a play.

"Hue and Cry After a Good Laugh" examines humor in early Restoration joke-books, quotes from the original Joe Miller, and then offers penetrating observations on humor in Evelyn Waugh, Aldous Huxley, and Joyce Cary.

"In Pursuit of Pornography" discusses private presses, explains what motivates collectors of pornography, and distinguishes between the obscene, the prurient, and the pornographic.

A final section assesses the position of the writer in our society and incidentally touches briefly on many of the best-sellers of the last decade.

Every member of the clerisy will find something to his taste in this potpourri, but other readers may find A Voice From the Attic less than interesting.

As Davies warns in his title-page epigraph, "A book is a mirror. When a monkey looks in, no apostle can look out."

The Sounding Board
By AUDREY ST.D. JOHNSON

You don't really realize how much too big and empty Canada is until you've talked to a person like Sean Mulcahy. Then it is suddenly born in you that it's necessary to struggle constantly in order to maintain some perspective in this overwhelming bigness. That is, if you care to struggle. Most of us it seems, don't. We are satisfied with our own individual and gravely limited horizons.

The result is that few Canadians know or care what is happening to other Canadians in the remote and "foreign" distances of the country. There is amazingly little esprit de corps among us.

Success and achievements of Canadians in the East are almost a matter of total indifference; and the Easterners return the compliment.

Sean Mulcahy is advance agent for Canadian Players and he has been criss-crossing the country, visiting big cities and small towns as he arranges next season's tour.

He arrived in Victoria this week and ran headlong into a problem that caused his Irish dander to rise and all his pugnacious charm to pop and crackle like an angry tangle of short-circuiting wires.

Blue sparks shooting from his eyes, he exclaimed: "It's incredible. I just can't believe it."

What couldn't he believe? Why that Victoria, capital city

Manna to the Theatre-Starved

From where he stands, however, Mr. Mulcahy sees it as essential that this form of a national theatre should be kept moving about the country, particularly as it takes its repertoire into small towns off the main circuits where the golden opportunity to enjoy live theatre is customarily and avidly seized upon by major percentages of the populations.

In order to do this, he stresses, the chain must be kept intact and if a major city in the West, such as Victoria, turns down the plays, a distressing gap is created.

"I just can't entertain the idea of that Players' bus crossing to the Island after playing Vancouver, and by-passing Victoria to make stands in Nanaimo and Comox," the angry young man declares.

Subsequent to this conversation, he made an up-Island foray and came back with firm bookings — "Joan" for Nanaimo and Shakespeare for Comox.

As for the B.C. Drama Association, their argument is a

Need Positive Box Office Lure

Capt. Charles Gibson, with a glum eye on the $300 loss the sponsors sustained when the company did "The Chalk Circle" and "Tempest" here last spring, feels the plays must have a positive box office appeal before the B.C. Drama body ventures again out onto the limb of sponsorship.

He takes a dim view of the modern dress aspect, feeling that audiences demand the panoply and color of full costume.

According to Mr. Mulcahy, this is not so much a question of avant garde, as of necessary economy; and in fact, it tends to place more emphasis on sheer acting.

So that's the case for and against a visit of Canadian Players to Victoria in 1962. At the moment it seems that if

Grandfather Sowed Seeds Of Lucky Break

NEW YORK (UP)—If it hadn't been for Frances Cuka's grandfather, the 24-year-old actress never would have had a chance to get an international reputation as the leading lady of "A Taste of Honey," stark drama of a young girl's woes by Britain's Shelagh Delaney.

Miss Cuka, who created the role in the original London production, came over here recently to portray it in the New York company, replacing Joan Plowright.

"Actually, I was to have come here in the first place," explained the attractive, red-haired actress. "But the plan to put on the play here in the 1959-60 season had to be abandoned, and I had other commitments when the producer finally began to cast it for last fall's premiere."

As for Miss Cuka's grandfather:

"He decided to emigrate from Czechoslovakia to the United States. He stopped off en route to see the sights in London, took a fancy to England and remained there. So, you see, I might have been an American. I still might have been an actress, but I wouldn't have had the chance to appear in this wonderful play which has done so much for my career."

Miss Cuka—and you pronounce that chook-uh—is a product of the famed Theatre Workshop in London, which has figured so prominently in the rise of young players, writers and directors in recent years. It was there that she first appeared in a tryout of Miss Delaney's play in 1958.

of British Columbia, intended to turn down the two plays being offered next season by Canadian Players.

In this instance, Victoria is represented by the British Columbia Drama Association which has sponsored visits of Canadian Players up to now. And the Players' two vehicles which Mr. Mulcahy is stumping the country to sell are Shaw's "Saint Joan" and Shakespeare's "Julius Caesar."

Now in the interests of all theatre-minded Victorians, let me state the argument for both sides.

Mr. Mulcahy scores a point when he claims that Canadian Players is the nearest thing we have to a national theatre and should be of moment to every theatre-minded citizen from east to west and north to south.

But in view of the conditions I pointed out earlier in this article, "should be" isn't by any means always "is" in this wide land.

Totem Theatre Principals Hit N.Y. Big Time

Two former members and leading spirits of the Totem Theatre, last professional repertory theatre to inhabit the old Pantages Building on Government Street, have arrived somewhere near the top in New York's theatrical world.

They are Thor Arngren, a partner with Donald Baker in the Totem venture, and Norma MacMillan, actress-playwright, who, since leaving Victoria, has become Mrs. Arngren.

Miss MacMillan had been a Victoria girl and is a niece of former Times editor Benny Nicholas.

It has been announced from New York that Mr. Arngren, with associates Susan Roy and Norman Balbaum, have formed a managerial firm which is now making plans for a Broadway production and in addition has taken over operation of The Grist Mill Playhouse at Andover, N.J.

The 800-seat theatre will be launched on its 1961 season June 30 with Leslie Stevens' successful comedy, "Marriage-Go-Round," starring Eve Arden. The 10-week season will see a program of outstanding hits and two new plays. One of these, "Free as a Bird," was written by Miss MacMillan and will be tried out in the summer rep before going to Broadway in the fall.

Among notable productions scheduled for The Grist Mill will be Arthur Laurents' comedy, "Invitation to a March," which will be directed by the author and star Celeste Holm.

STANLEY'S BACK

Back "on stage" in the Victoria musical world, is singer Stanley Martin, who was forced to cancel a solo appearance in the Messiah last December, due to an illness which kept him hospitalized for some time.

Mr. Martin's fine bass-baritone voice had previously kept him in constant demand and musical organizations and public alike will be glad to know that he has now fully recovered and is open for engagements.

PLAYING WITH TOY SOLDIERS is a serious and exacting occupation to Brig. Alasdair Maclean, world-renowned expert on military spectacles. In planning a searchlight tattoo such as the one that will open Vancouver International Festival July 14-22, Brig. Maclean saves rehearsal time by working out intricacies of march and counter-march with these leaden troops.

Individualistic Lawrence Was 'Revoltin' Speller

By DAVID DUGAS
United Press International

AMMAN, Jordan (UPI)—The people who have started work here on a film about Lawrence of Arabia admit there is at least one aspect of the great British adventurer's life and works they can't very well bring out on the screen—his spelling.

The problem is how do you take an Arabic name and write it in Roman letters. Lawrence figured it didn't much matter as long as it came out sounding all right.

John R. Woolfenden, publicity director for Horizon Pictures, the British company that is making the Lawrence movie, was talking recently to a couple of visiting newsmen about Lawrence's battle at Tafilah (the way Jordan's official tourist map spells it).

"By the way, we're spelling that Tafilah," he said. Which is the way Lawrence spelled it.

The film company's main camp is being set up at Jordan's southern port town of Aqaba (the way most people spell it), which Lawrence spelled "Akaba."

PROPAGANDA FILMS

Art in Descendent At Cannes Festival

By P. VILLENEUVE
Canadian Press Correspondent

CANNES, France (CP)—After seeing 25 movies in 10 days many correspondents emerged disappointed from the 19th Cannes Film Festival.

Some of the films seemed to be more propaganda or melodrama than art, and there was a constant air of commercialism.

The mayor of this pleasant resort city on the French Riviera, however, provided a welcome diversion for the 500 visiting journalists by treating them to a civic luncheon at the Mandelieu golf course. The attractive landscape was a bracing experience after watching movies for four to six hours a day.

MANY STARS

Other highlights were the well-spaced arrivals of film stars from various countries and the never-ending parade of starlets in bikinis.

Gina Lollobrigida was here, telling reporters she now regards Toronto as her home but has no time to live there. French film idol Yves Montand, accosted by reporters at a dinner for the stars, said only "Let's eat first."

The biggest stir was caused by the arrival of Sophia Loren, who won the festival's best-actress award for her role in the Italian film La Ciociara, and of Alain Delon, another French idol. The latter was surrounded by teen-agers on the beach, clamoring for autographs.

Other film notables included Anthony Perkins, British winner of the best-actor award for his role in the French movie "Almeas-vous Brahms" and the American stars—English-born, Van Heflin and Richard Widmark, and the French stars Simone Signoret, Daniel (BB PLUS A) "CIRCLE OF DECEPTION" (Odeon): When you are called upon to fight your own side as well as the enemy it makes for a very rugged war.

As dramatized by 20th Century-Fox in "Circle of Deception" it also makes for a better-than-average suspense tale of espionage and counter-espionage. At any rate, it is doubtful if anyone will be able to fall asleep during the 100-minute running time.

The story recounts how British Intelligence officer, Captain Harry Andrews, evolves a scheme whereby a man who is known to break under extreme pressure is sent into occupied France with unknown to him—false information, making sure that the Nazis know of his presence thus assuring his arrest and questioning.

For this job Allied psychiatrists pick Bradford Dillman. He is briefed and dropped by parachute into Normandy just prior to the invasion. From there on in, with the audience knowing what Dillman does not, "Circle of Deception" becomes an increasingly interesting tale.

As an intelligence officer, Suzy Parker is seen to good account as the woman who falls in love with Dillman.

Robert Stephens also does well as the Nazi captain who captures the spy and tortures him. However, in any recap it is Dillman who must earn the most plaudits as he has the most onerous task of all—with Andrews running him a close second.

Chief criticism would be that there are weak links in the plot that one must overlook to enjoy it and there is too much time devoted to the torture sequences.

Second half of the Odeon's bill is "The Secret of the Purple Reef."

BEASTALL ADVISES

How to Visit a Nursery And Enjoy the Experience

By JACK BEASTALL

In spring the gardener has no difficulty in locating plants for the garden, for we see plant stalls and plant displays in some of the most unlikely places all over the district.

By mid-June the displays vanish overnight and no more plants are on view excepting at flower shows. In September the plant dealers make another concerted effort to attract the gardener.

The result of this two-headed drive each year is apparent in local gardens where spring and fall flowering plants are much in evidence but summer flowering plants, apart from annuals, are conspicuous by their absence.

To acquaint newcomers and owners of new gardens with the wealth of permanent summer flowering plants which can be grown here, I made the suggestion last year that home gardeners visit the local plant growers and their nurseries at least once a month during the summer.

I pointed out that a nursery of growing plants in all sizes from rooted cuttings and divisions to fully grown specimens is a better catalogue of what can be grown in this area than colored descriptions and photographs.

NO DISPLAY The principal reason for the lack of permanent summer flowering plants in our newer gardens is that these plants are not the kind to be lifted, wrapped and put on display during June, July and August.

They give no indication of their summer appearance when on display in the spring and therefore are only of interest to those who know them. Nor does their beauty extend into the fall gardening season when plants are again brought to the gardener. To learn their value through the summer months the gardener must go to the plants.

Many readers have told me they followed last year's suggestion. I would say that the majority found it a valuable experience but it disturbed me to hear that some found it a most harrowing ordeal.

In an effort to make the home gardener's nursery visit a pleasant and rewarding event, here are a few suggestions based on my experience with both gardeners and nurserymen for more years than I care to record.

PATHS OF NECESSITY Paved driveways and walks are not a part of a plant nursery. Land is too valuable to be permanently covered with blacktop and concrete. Such paths as exist are born of necessity rather than convenience.

The plants are not grown in beds as we see them in public parks. They are set out in straight rows to facilitate the use of machinery. To see them at close range it is necessary to walk over soil which has been cultivated to provide a four-inch to six-inch dust mulch, a most uncomfortable ordeal in spike heels or open-toed sandals.

The people who work among the plants will not be dressed as sales clerks in a store, nor will their make-up and hair-do approximate in any way the photos of models seen in magazines.

NO FRILLS

A pair of faded overalls, stout leather or rubber boots, soiled hands, a smudge of dirt across a sun-tanned cheek, and hair blown loose by the breeze are the characteristics of the true plant grower.

To feel at home with these folks and to make your nursery visit an enjoyable experience, plan it as a visit to the garden down the street rather than a shopping trip or dinner date in town.

Wear your regular gardening togs, the kind you wear at home with the baggy knees and torn seat; for frills, silk stockings and jewelry soon come to grief in a nursery.

Take along some kind of head protection because the sun can become unbearable in the middle of a five-acre field that has no shade.

Wear comfortable soil and water-resistant footwear with low heels. Whether you encounter dust or mud will depend on whether watering day is tomorrow or yesterday. Be prepared for either.

Any pets kept by the nursery owner are trained to respect plants, and it is surprising how quickly they learn where they may, and may not, venture. Your pet may have had the same training at home but it cannot be expected to remember in strange territory. In any case, the pets in a nursery own the place.

See that the kids are wearing suitable clothing. The first thing they will do is to get their hands into the soil, it is a natural instinct and will do them no harm.

Incidentally, don't tell Junior to "get out of that dirt" when within hearing of a nurseryman. The soil in a nursery has cost hundreds of dollars to make and keep in condition, and nothing riles a nurseryman more than to hear it referred to as dirt.

As the wife of one plant grower expressed it: "I don't mind soil being tracked all over the house, but I can't stand dirt!" And an interesting point about soil in a nursery is that dogs just love to roll in it, an indication of some beneficial action it has on skin and hair.

Remember that gardeners can spend hours together without realizing the passage of time, but children tire of plants very quickly. A book or a toy in the shade of tree or building will keep youngsters happy and out of mischief.

Nanaimo Facing Big Water Cost

NANAIMO—Expansion on the fringes of Greater Nanaimo Water District has brought the water board face to face with the need of spending $500,000 on a new two billion-gallon storage dam.

Water storage available at present will serve the existing district for from five to seven years, according to commissioner C. F. Newcombe, "provided there is no large-scale industrial, commercial, or military expansion."

If outside areas are brought into the existing district, then the new dam will become necessary.

The water problem has given the board almost complete power to dictate where new development will be.

It came about in this way. Two years ago the water board ruled that no new districts would be added to the existing boundaries, but since that time 1,513 applications have been made for water connections to building lots outside those boundaries.

Finally the water board had to make a decision on admitting new members, and as yet no action has been taken.

Harewood Trustee Rod Glen said his district was against allowing outside areas to join when there is still "scads of property" available within the water district.

Mr. Newcombe said there would be no problem in financing the new dam if that step were to be taken. A charge of $5 per acre or $1.25 per lot would be sufficient to start the project, he said.

Wolf Proves Faithful To Boy Pal

A 13-year-old boy and a full-grown timber wolf have made nature fiction come true by their lasting friendship.

Lobo, a 125-pound wolf, proved man and his wild breed could love one another when he leaped into the arms of young Lutz Bauersachs after the two had been apart for 18 months.

Trained by Rudi Bauersachs at his Durranze Road zoo, he was sent to Arizona with two other Bauersachs wolves, Prince and Sombra, to work on production of the Walt Disney film "Lobo".

According to the film handler, the Victoria wolves were the best trained of the 50 used in the film, and Lobo was best of all.

Mr. Bauersachs acquired the wolf with other cubs three years ago, and found that gradually Lobo and his son became inseparable.

ONCE SAVAGE

It was feared that after the long absence he would have forgotten, but he had not. When he arrived in a crate, which was opened in the zoo pen, he looked around, then bounded straight into Lutz' arms for a hug.

"It is not unusual," Mr. Bauersachs said. "The wolf at first was like all others—shy and savage with humans—but he was carefully trained and came to trust Lutz."

He said that although the wolf in its natural state is a "gentleman"—faithful to his mate for life, and a good provider and father—he generally is a sworn enemy of man.

Anti-Flood Work Planned At Duncan

DUNCAN—Cowichan School Board decided this week to spend $3,500 on fill material adjacent to the new Quamichan Junior High School in order to bring grounds in front of the school up to the level of Beverly Street.

Part of this area was under water during severe flooding in January.

Agricultural tile will be installed to drain into a ditch being dug by North Cowichan municipality.

Action being taken was recommended by the school architect, who said "these measures should ensure freedom from flooding, and give adequate drainage throughout the year."

The school board went ahead with the school project in the face of several protest petitions prompted by the flooding. The building now is nearing completion.

Stray Dogs Hazardous For Planes

SIDNEY—Dogs running loose on the landing strips at Patricia Bay Airport not only are endangering flyers, but are making their owners liable for $50 fines.

There have been several reports of aircraft almost hitting dogs, and on one occasion a TCA Viscount was forced to make an extra circuit before landing.

According to airport manager A. J. Knowland, a radio-equipped car is needed for the time-consuming job of rounding up stray dogs.

Stenos Are on Their Way

NASSAU, Bahamas—I don't know where the boys are, but the girls, boys, are on their annual way to Nassau by the sea. It is summer here in the southern seas and the royal poinciana has burst orange and bright on the trees. The frangipani is in bloom and so is erape-myrtle and the bauhinia, known here as poor man's orchid.

Sutton

As they say in ancient Nassau madrigal, If the Bauhinia is in Bloom, Can the Stenographers be Far Behind? Summer, when the poor man's orchid is in flower, is the time for the poor lady's vacation.

The white collar ladies of the two-weeks-with-pay brigade will shortly be installed in the very digs where the sports and the millionaires roamed all winter. They will pay anywhere from one-half to one-third of the winter rates for the very same rooms. Virtually all hotel rooms are air conditioned to make them seem like February in New York.

Let me give you a for-instance: the Pilot House Club, overlooking the marina where the yachts come in, has 50 rooms which in the frost season may be ransomed for anywhere from $36 to $48 a day depending upon whether you look at the garden and pool or the channel and the schooners.

In summer the same rooms are being let for $24 to $28 a day for two, with breakfast and dinner. There is no music in summer, but the bar bubbles until 2 a.m. both with resident trade and visiting yachtsmen. By day ladies can stroll on the poolside settees while waiting for their ships owners to come in.

For the summer a gigantic rooftop nest atop the Pilot House, planned as a nightclub to have been called the Crow's Nest, has been turned into a studio. No crowd ever had it so good, for the picture windows unveil a magnificent north-light view of yacht harbor and Hog Island beyond. An art instructor is being imported.

from England, native models will pose on a podium when the window view pales. Art courses and life in the Pilot House are being combined at $97 a summer's week, all included except lunch.

Ten minutes from the airport, the elegant Coral Harbour—kindly do not forget the U—which extracted $45 to $60 from the winter swells, is asking $16 a day for each working girl who comes down this summer, two in room, breakfast and lunch. A six-day special is being dangled for $92 per person, including sightseeing and taxi transfers from the airport.

Coral Harbour is an over-land safari from downtown Nassau, but then it has a beach that stretches for three miles and there is a boat basin here too where the stenographers can park their yachts. Once a week there is a barbecue dinner with outdoor dancing to follow, and any day there is fishing from the dock, water skiing instruction by the all-Austrian staff, and tennis.

For any pair of ladies (or pair of men) who want to splurge, a $90-a-day winter suite is available at a third of the high-season price. It includes a lavender and gold tiled bath, a living room done in orange and lavender, and a 60-foot dogleg terrace.

Those who want to keep house—now there just might be somebody—will find apartments at Cable Beach Manor knocked down to $94 a week ($210 in winter). Each includes a living room, double bed room, bath, terrace and kitchen, and most are air conditioned. All grocery stores deliver.

In the same section of the island the big hotels, Emerald Beach and Nassau Beach Lodge, make a specialty of summer trade. Both are on Cable Beach, a magnificent stretch of white sand 15 minutes from downtown. Emerald Beach, for example, knocks down its rooms that bring $65 daily for two in winter to $40 daily for two with meals; its $40 rooms are down to $30.

Although a few of the ultrachic boutiques close in summer, many good shops remain open and sell off their winter

London Boasts Many Off-Beat Services

LONDON (CP)—In London you can buy a hurdy-gurdy, a penknife with 100 blades or a stuffed otter. There are shops that specialize in roasted caterpillars, wine glass repairs and shoes for women with big feet.

For 25 years Denys Parsons has been pottering around London making a hobby of locating such off-beat shops and services. Now he has compiled all his information in a book titled What's Where in London.

Throughout the book Parsons has scattered witty observations and advice to the shopper as well as some interesting history and facts about the strange shops he has visited in his travels.

He gives the address of a good skeleton dealer and comments: "Female skeletons for some reason are harder to get, by the way."

Most of the listings are intended as practical help to the shopper but he admits to being a bit whimsical in some of his entries.

There are lecturers, blacksmiths and ventriloquists for hire in London and they are listed, along with a locksmith who is ready and willing to be aroused from bed at any hour of the night.

SLEEK ARCHIE FAVORED TO WHIP HUSKY GIULIO

NEW YORK (AP)—A sleek, 44-year-old Archie Moore gets down to business tonight in defence of his piece of the lightweight title against young, husky Giulio Rinaldi of Italy.

If the graying, 44-year-old marvel hasn't lost too much in the battle of the scales and with father time, he figures to knock out the 26-year-old Italian from Anzio within five rounds of their scheduled 15-rounder at Madison Square Garden.

Archie's vitality is the only question mark. If he's got enough left it will be "arrivederci" Giulio—and early. Moore is favored at odds ranging from 85 to 2-1.

Hal Malone

LOOKS AT SPORTS

The world of sport is overflowing with parents who think their own little Oscar is the finest specimen on earth.

They shut their eyes to Oscar's temperament and other failings. They consider every opponent an enemy, every referee or umpire as a larcenous soul out to do their boy no good.

A classic example of this type of relationship was the Harvey Knox-Ronnie Knox combination.

Harvey was stepfather, Ronnie the athlete. And what an athlete. From sandlots to collegiate stadiums Ronnie Knox was the best in his football class. Naturally reticent and parentless, he let Papa Harvey do his talking.

Harvey couldn't run, pass or kick. But he was an All-American blabbermouth. He praised Ronnie to the point where the young man would have needed two heads, four arms and six legs to live up to his alleged reputations.

By the time Ronnie graduated from University of California at Los Angeles, Uncle Harvey had every pro team between Cambodia and Laos believing it couldn't survive without the services of his stepson.

It Wasn't 'We' When Bruises Came

Several teams tangled with Papa Harvey and later wished they hadn't. In less than five years Uncle Harvey had his stepson playing for Chicago Bears, Toronto Argonauts and Calgary Stampeders. Harvey used the pronoun "we" so much—"we are in great demand... we can do this... we can do that"—one would have thought that Ronnie was only an accessory to the act.

Finally Ronnie couldn't take it any more. What was once a promising football career expired hastily one night when Ronnie said goodbye to Toronto and Harvey and vanished to write poetry.

No such insipid attitude exists between the Victoria father-son team of Jack and John Fraser.

Poppa Jack, a trust company officer who looks more like a tennis player, practically topples over backward when discussing son John, 17, a tennis player, some promise.

Ever since he was 10 and batted a tennis ball with his father, John Fraser has been getting his name in the sports pages.

His latest episode, getting to the finals of the Public Courts Tournament in Vancouver, drew wide raves. That he was beaten 6-1, 6-3, 6-1 by Jim Macken, B.C.'s best player, seemed to please his father more than if his son had won.

"I'm not against him getting a big play as such," Jack Fraser said.

"I just don't want him to think he has the world at his fingers. He has a lot to learn. I would like to think that stories of his success will stimulate interest in junior tennis here. But I am very much against unqualified praise for him if it will give him a big head."

John's Not Intense With Lawnmower

He talked, proudly and reservedly, of John and his game. "He's not a pretty player to watch. Never smiles. Never compliments a player on a good shot. It's not that he doesn't appreciate it. He's probably just saying to himself, 'Fraser, you nut, you set him up for that.'"

"I have never known anyone as intense as John."

He laughed. "I mean intense about tennis. Or any other sport. He's a pretty fair basketball and soccer player, too. But when it comes to cutting the grass or doing some other chore... well, he's not quite so intense."

Observers agree that young John is not yet a finished product. He has a blazing serve. His backhand and forehand strokes are fair. But he has flaws in his overhead game, his second service is weak and he has the natural youthful inclination to panic against seasoned competition.

The latter characteristic cost him his chance to beat Macken. Jack Fraser realizes this.

"Macken is a fine player," he says. "He played Davis Cup tennis 10 years ago. At the peak of his career he would have taken John more easily than he did."

"Just getting into the finals against Macken is an accomplishment for John. But it doesn't mean that he knows all there is to know about tennis."

What he does know, however, was good enough for young John Fraser to be offered this week a tuition-and-board scholarship to University of Michigan, where he can play year-round.

The scholarship is for academic as well as athletic accomplishment. Michigan has a reputation for excellence in both departments.

Jack Fraser is quietly pleased about this. But he's taking no chances that John's head is so big he won't be able to enter the hallowed halls of education at Ann Arbor.

He's making a special trip to Vancouver this weekend to do a "little head-shrinking."

"John may not need it," he said, "but I want to be sure of that."

A TIP OF THE HAT... TO Mrs. Margaret Todd

Playing a steady, sometimes brilliant game, she engraved her name as city's woman golf champion for the 10th time Friday at Victoria Golf Club. The years and lack of competitive play have taken a little off her fine game. But few women golfers (and not a few male golfers) can match her booming drives and general shotmaking. Her opponent, Mrs. Joan Lawson, needing only a little more putting perfection, made it close all the way. Said Mrs. Todd later: "We played some good shots and some bad ones. It was a good match."

While we're doffing our chapeaux, let's not forget John Pickburn. Assigned to the unfamiliar (for him) chore of press relations for the Birmingham-Victoria All-Stars game, he handled it better than most pros.

Press box habitués were stunned to find their quarters cluttered with sundry officials and 33rd cousins of the left-halfback. Pickburn even provided paper, pens, pencils and correct lineups, something practically unheard of by fourth esters. More like him would make this job easy.

WESTERN LEAGUE DIVIDES

'Frisco Puck Puzzle Still Unsolved

CALGARY (CP)—A decision on whether a San Francisco team will operate this year in the Western Hockey League was postponed Friday until June 26.

League directors wound up a two-day closed meeting with the announcement that a Los Angeles club definitely will play next season, and that the circuit will be split into American and Canadian divisions, where home games would be played.

The American section will comprise Los Angeles, Seattle, Spokane, Portland and possibly San Francisco. The Canadian teams will be Winnipeg, Calgary, Edmonton and Vancouver.

League president Al Leader said the decision on Coley Hall's bid to move into San Francisco was tabled pending final arrangements with officials of the Cow Palace, where home games would be played.

On the basis of a 70-game schedule involving four Canadian and four American teams, this would be the picture:

Each team would make two road trips, playing three games with each club in the other section. Thus, fans in any one Canadian city would see each American club three times. The same fans would see each of the other three clubs from the Canadian section either seven or eight times. The same would hold true for fans in each of the American centres.

In any case the sections will in large part operate separately. Each will have its own set of standings as in 1959.

Coley Hall told the directors he is "very close" to agreement with the Cow Palace officials.

The June 26 meeting, the fourth post-season conference of league directors, probably will be held in Seattle.

In approving the Los Angeles operation Friday afternoon, the directors finally agreed on the amount of a subsidy that franchise-holder Jim Piggott would pay to teams making the long road trip into California.

The travel allowance would be scrapped if Hall is able to operate, and win approval

ODD YEARS BILL'S BEST

Numbers Provide McColl With Edge

The numerologists are inclined to believe Bill McColl will win the City Amateur golf championship for a second time this Sunday.

That's when the 39-year-old swinger leads the field into the third and final round of the 54-hole medal event at the Victoria Golf Club.

That Mr. McColl is blessed with a four-stroke advantage over his nearest rivals is reason enough for the numerologists to appreciate his chances over such as Bill Wakeham, Laurie Kerr and Dr. George Bigelow.

SO THIS IS '61

But the good people who put a lot of faith into numbers are counting other items. Like, for example, that this happens to be 1961.

It's an odd year (numerically speaking), and McColl verifies that during such periods he enjoys greatest success: "It's a funning thing," he says, "but all my biggest golf victories have come on odd years."

There is one exception. When he first won the City Amateur, the year was 1948. Apart from that, most of his fairway successes—the Times Island Open, B.C. Close, election to the provincial Willingdon Cup team, and a sundry other Island events—came on odd years.

That, plus the four strokes, makes it a tough haul for Wakeham, Kerr and Bigelow, his nearest rivals. The run down the homestretch starts at 10:30 Sunday morning.

Barry's Making Deal Look Good

Quick now, who did the Cleveland Indians get when they traded one-time strikeout king Herb Score to the Chicago White Sox?

The answer is Barry Latman, a strapping right-hander from Los Angeles, Calif., who is making the controversial deal look, mightily good indeed by his development into one of the majors' most effective relief pitchers.

Latman is unlikely ever to make Cleveland fans forget Score but he might help remind 'em of some past World Series glory the way he is stopping the Indians' rivals cold in the late innings. He's appeared in 17 games, run up a 5-0 won-loss record and sports a 2.20 earned run average.

Latman scored victory No. 5 when he pitched 4½ innings of one-hit shutout ball to beat Detroit Tigers, 5-4, Friday night and enable the Indians to increase their American League lead to 1½ games. The victory, achieved on Bubba Phillips' ninth-inning homer, gave the Indians a 2-1 edge over Detroit in the four-game series ending today.

Willie Kirkland's three-run homer was the big blow of a four-run rally that gave the Indians a three-run lead in the third inning.

Ryne Duren set an AL record by striking out seven consecutive batters as the Los Angeles Angels beat the Boston Red Sox, 5-1, after a 5-3 defeat; the New York Yankees beat the Kansas City Athletics, 8-6, and the Washington Senators won a pair of thrillers, 1-0 in 10 innings, and 10-9, over the White Sox.

The Los Angeles Dodgers reclaimed first place in the National League with a 3-1 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies; the St. Louis Cardinals downed the Cincinnati Reds, 8-4; the Chicago Cubs edged the Milwaukee Braves, 11-10, and the San Francisco Giants topped the Pittsburgh Pirates, 9-6.

Another weekly prize has been added to the ladder derby competition of the Victoria-Saanich Inlet Anglers' Association.

Starting this week, a hidden-weight prize of $7.50 will be awarded each week. Top derby angler each week will continue to receive a trophy. Cash prizes for taking the largest salmon are also awarded each month to any VSIAA members.

Purchase of a $1 derby ticket enables a fisherman to enter as many fish as he wishes in the ladder contest.

Only seven fish had been entered up to Friday in the third weekly contest, which ends Sunday night. Anglers weighing in the 200 largest salmon during the 10 weeks of qualifying fishing will be eligible to compete in the derby fish-off.

10th City Title For Mrs. Todd

Remarkable, the adjective, is banded about in altogether too many stories. But the well-worn word must be included in the latest chapter on Victoria golf, as written by Mrs. J. H. (Margaret) Todd.

It belongs in there somewhere.

Throw it in, if you will, with the paragraph announcing Mrs. Todd's 10th success in the City Women's golf championship—a feat without parallel in the history of a tournament that began in 1920. No other golfer has managed more than four successes.

NO THREE-PUTTS

"Remarkable" would fit in extremely well with the words used to describe Mrs. Todd's putting. From the moment Mrs. Todd started the qualifying round Monday until she wrapped up victory with Friday's 2 and 1 victory over Upland's Joan Lawson, Mary never knew what it was to three-putt a green.

Nor would that adjective be out of place in paragraphs dealing with Mrs. Todd's return to the fairways after a winter's layoff. She came back to hit then as far and as straight as ever.

Mrs. Todd was pleased with every aspect of her game Friday but felt the short irons did much to defeat a rival also known for accuracy around the greens.

TWO UP AT TURN

The long-driving Oak Bay member was two up at the turn, that despite the fact she suffered her worst moments on the front nine. Mrs. Todd started out with a double bogey seven on the first hole for a half, and then took a three-over-par seven on the sixth after pushing a shot into some rocks.

After that, it was clear sailing and par golf. It had to be because Mrs. Lawson also played some of her best shots on the back nine—a stretch that produced one of the finest golf duels in years.

Mrs. Todd, in spite of the two bad holes on the first nine, finished approximately five over par.

ON RATING COMMITTEE

The city affair was Mrs. Todd's first competitive tournament in some time. Chairman of the CLGU's newly-formed rating committee, she spent most of the winter and spring travelling across Canada to visit various courses. That caused her to miss out on her golfing, but there's no doubt the layoff didn't hurt.

Other results: Consolation Flight—Mrs. G. Harris defeated Mrs. F. Skilling, 5 and 4. Second Flight—Mrs. J. Tribe defeated Mrs. F. Green, 2 and 1. Third Flight—Mrs. G. Rice defeated Mrs. B. Price, 3 and 2. Fourth Flight—Mrs. R. Dyer defeated Mrs. L. d'Eau, 2 up. Fifth Flight—Mrs. J. Ellis defeated Mrs. N. Morgan, 1 up. Sixth Flight—Mrs. J. Fry defeated Mrs. E. McCourt. Seventh Flight—Mrs. C. Moore defeated Mrs. F. Usher, 4 and 3. Eighth Flight—Mrs. W. Collett defeated Miss A. Kelly, the 19th.

Title Retained By Lansdowne

Winning the Greater Victoria junior High school track and field crown is getting to be habit for Lansdowne Junior High.

Athletes from the Lansdowne school chalked up their fifth straight triumph Friday in the annual meet, retaining the title in competition with six other schools.

Finishing with an aggregate total of 156 points, Lansdowne topped runner-up Central by 47½ points. S. J. Willis collected 72 points, Oak Bay 58, Colquitz 58, Esquimalt 45½ and Gordon Head 20.

Big Jump in Apartments Features Building Report

By GORDON BELL
Times Business Editor

Latest report from Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation makes it clear that any vitality possessed by the residential construction industry in Victoria can be attributed to the builders of multiple occupancy units—chiefly apartment blocks.

In Greater Victoria, single occupancy starts are down by 30 units from last year for the January-May period while multiples are up by a whopping 103 units.

Evidence that builders and investors are on the right track in Victoria concentrating on multiples is seen in the figures for new unoccupied houses which declined from 57 a year ago May to 43 this April and further to 39 last month.

Saanich has taken the brunt of the decline in single family homes with only 197 starts registered in the first five months this year compared with 223 in the same period last year. And there were no multiple starts in Saanich to May this year, compared with seven starts in the period last year.

In Victoria there were 116 multiple dwellings started this year compared with only 31 last year, while in Oak Bay there were 46 starts this year as against none last.

Esquimalt, which registered starts on 21 multiples in the first five months of 1960, had registered none in the same period this year.

VACANCY RATE UP
In all urban centres of the province during May there was a five per cent decline in starts compared with the same month last year. This was mainly due to the falling off of apartment building in Vancouver, where the vacancy rate has risen sharply.

Cumulative starts for B.C. for the first five months this year was up 18 per cent over 1960 at 3,304.

NHA loan approval business has been brisk. In Greater Victoria, NHA building accounted for 191 of the starts compared with an even 100 last year.

Greater emphasis on apartment building this year may have had something to do with the fact that total shipments from B.C. sawmills into the domestic market were down in the first quarter—off 3.9 per cent for the quarter and 6.9 per cent for the month of March.

Fortunately for the industry overseas shipments for the quarter were up by 2.5 per cent despite sharp fall-off in deliveries to the U.S. and U.K. in March.

Brightest spot in the sawmill business was the greatly increased demand for B.C. lumber from foreign markets other than the U.S. and U.K. This market showed an increase of 9.3 per cent for the quarter and 26.5 per cent for March.

Three more B.C. mining companies joined the Craigmont-Highland Valley copper play this week.

CMS Maps Barter Deal With U.S.
VANCOUVER (CP)—The president of the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Co. has confirmed reports the company is negotiating a lead-for-wheat barter deal with the U.S. government.

W. S. Kirkpatrick said he could not confirm the deal amounts to $10,000,000. Value is still a matter of negotiation.

He said while the company will trade lead for wheat, it will receive cash. The wheat would be sold through U.S. brokers.

He said shipments might cover a period of a year or more. He did not anticipate any increase in lead production at Trail, B.C., where Cominco has giant operations.

Mr. Kirkpatrick also said work will start on a mine at Pine Point, N.W.T., when legislation for the construction of a new northern railway is introduced in the Commons at the present session.

He said it would cost $20,000,000 to put the mine into production. Concentrates from the mine will be carried to the company's smelter at Trail.

Mr. Kirkpatrick said it may be necessary to boost the capacity of the Trail lead and zinc smelters to handle the extra concentrates.

was proceeding on its 56-claim property in the meadow Creek area east of the Highland Valley. Vican is supposed to be negotiating with a large eastern gold mining firm for financing.

North Merritt Mines Ltd., which recently completed a public offering of 200,000 shares at 10 cents net, is stripping and trenching on a 54-claim group 15 miles north-west of Merritt.

And Merritt Mining Explorations Ltd. is currently offering 200,000 shares at 13 cents to finance an exploration program on 49 claims 12 miles south of the Highland Valley and six miles north of Craigmont.

Effect of U.S. buying of Canadian stocks is shown in the volume drop on the Toronto Stock Exchange when New York is closed down for a holiday.

However, U.S. buying does not account for quite as high a percentage of the volume as some people believe, according to the TSE which conducted a study on the matter.

The TSE found that in three recent 10-day periods sampled Canadians accounted for 82.5 per cent of the trading, Americans for 11.7 per cent, U.K.

investors for 3 per cent and Europeans and others for just under 3 per cent.

Some estimates, according to the TSE, had placed American trading in Canadian stocks as high as 20 per cent.

Good news for B.C. iron ore producers is the production program of Japan's six largest iron and steel firms for the 1961-62 fiscal year.

Each of the six intends to increase production by at least 20 per cent and some of them have set a target of 30 per cent.

Total production is expected to be away over the 26.5 million tons earlier estimated by the Japanese ministry of international trade and industry.

New issues go fast these days as the hungry bulls snap at just about anything that is offered.

This is why one of a flock of new companies offered in the U.S. will probably have no trouble selling their stock—including one firm called, honestly, Stupid, Inc.

This Stupid outfit is offering 3,300 shares of common at $15 and the proceeds will be ploughed into the production of humorous greeting cards and other novelties.

Stolen Mine Shares Tied Up in Trust

VANCOUVER (CP)—Forty thousand shares of Friday Mines, stolen here three years ago, are being held in trust and cannot be released to shareholders who might wish to sell them at today's price of 93 cents a share, it was reported Thursday.

The problem arises out of the conviction in October, 1958, of Miller Graham and Eldon Johnston, partners in a brokerage business here called Miller Graham and Company.

The pair were found guilty of stealing $10,000 and sentenced to 15 months.

Complaining shareholders said then the company had sold 150,000 shares of Friday Nickel, as it was known then. However, when accountant John C. Oswald moved into investigate Miller Graham's affairs, he could find only 40,000 shares of Friday.

Shareholders paid from 25 to 34 cents a share for the Friday stock then. They have argued since that if they could get release now and have it distributed on a proportionate basis, they might at least get back their original investment.

SITUATION EXPLAINED
Asked Thursday why the stock is not being released to its owners, J. Stewart Smith, superintendent of brokers, said he is powerless to do anything about the situation.

"The only thing that can be done," he said, "is for one of the stockholders to put Miller Graham and Company into bankruptcy."

A liquidator then would be appointed and the company's assets distributed.

If the company was put into bankruptcy, however, other creditors could move in and make their claims and return from the reported 40,000 shares would be spread thinly among 11 claimants, not just those who owned the shares of Friday Mines.

TORONTO (CP)—E. P. Taylor, of Toronto, Canadian Breweries Ltd. chairman, Friday night denied reports in a London, England, newspaper that he has offered near $3,000,000 for a brewery that operates 270 Lancashire pubs.

The Evening News says Mr. Taylor, who has built up Canadian Breweries into the largest in the world, wants to buy Cornbrook Brewery.

"It's just ridiculous," Mr. Taylor said. "I don't know where they got that report."

Magna Reveals Financing For Pipelines

VANCOUVER (CP)—A $30,000,000 international project which will involve five pipelines totalling 236 miles with a capacity of 105,000,000 cubic feet of natural gas was announced Friday by Magna Pipe Line Company.

The scheme will serve Vancouver Island, Powell River, and the Olympic Peninsula in Washington.

Ralph K. Farris, president, said two pipelines will be laid Vancouver Island to service Nanaimo and Victoria.

A second phase, with a 1965 starting date, will see an extension of the line to the Alberni on the west coast of the Island and Campbell River on the east coast and Powell River on the Mainland.

A third line would be laid across the gulf to the Crofton area, between Nanaimo and Victoria, to meet the anticipated load growth.

In addition, Magna will take over Natural Gas Transmission Company of Seattle and will serve the industrial area of the Olympic Peninsula.

AVAILABLE NEXT YEAR
It is anticipated that natural gas will be available on the Island in 1962.

Magna is offering 750,000 common shares to raise $6,000,000 to get the deal rolling.

First mortgage bonds totalling $8,000,000 make up the balance of the $14,000,000 required for the first stage of the project on the Island.

Magna will offer 114,750 shares to Natural Gas Transmission for its interest in the Olympic Peninsula development.

The U.S. development will cost $6,000,000. Balance of the needed capital will come from $3,200,000 in NGT bonds.

It will cost $20,000,000 to complete the first phase of both sides of the border. The 1965 expansion up the Island will cost another $10,000,000. It is proposed to finance this with $6,000,000 in first mortgage bonds and $4,000,000 in cash.

Mr. Farris said Public Utilities Commission hearings will be necessary for the up-Island franchise.

He said Magna has signed no contracts with pulp and paper mills and other heavy industrial potential users.

Big Census Task Over Third Done

The census of Victoria city residents may be completed by the end of next week, officials said today.

They estimate that more than one-third of Victoria's population has been enumerated by the 165 census-takers.

Enumerators report that Victorians generally are co-operating "right along the line" and it is not often that a housewife says: "Not today thank you."

INVITED TO TEA

"When they find you are not selling something they usually co-operate," one enumerator said; "in fact enumerators are often invited to have a cup of tea when they call."

One question that bothers many is: "What is your salary?"

85 MISSING AS BURMESE SHIP SINKS

RANGOON (AP) — The Burma government's motor-ship Aung Teza sank in the Andaman Sea Wednesday and shipping officials said Thursday night that of the 125 persons aboard only 40 survivors have been found.

The other 85 are feared dead, the government shipping board reported.

The government ordered civil aircraft, air force planes and shipping in the south coast area to look out for any further survivors.

ask henry

The writer of this weekly advice column is an 11-year-old boy. The advice he gives is strictly his own. It has not been changed by his parents or the editor. He welcomes letters from parents. If you want him to discuss your problem write to ASK HENRY, care of this newspaper.

Dear Henry:
Don, who is six, loves to come along with me fishing. However, he is playful and noisy while I wait for a fish to bite. This of course scares the fish and I intend not to take him along any more. Will this be fair to Don?

FATHER OF A NOISY FISHER.
Dear Father of a Noisy Fisher:
Bring your son on fishing trips. Buy your son a fishing rod and get him interested in fishing. Then your boy will know not to make noise.

HENRY
Dear Henry:
I have a son, 10, who loves guns. He has a very big collection of them, pistols and rifles. Just a few days ago the pistol accidentally went off when he was cleaning it. Luckily it just burned his arm. I want him to be more careful with them. I don't want to take them away because it would break his heart.

WOUNDED
Dear Wounded:
Would you like the gun to break his heart?

HENRY
Dear Henry:
Do you think TV is good for boys and girls from five to twelve? MRS. D.

Dear Mrs. D.:
Yes I do. Kids learn a lot from TV. TV forms a better imagination.

HENRY
Dear Henry:
My boy of eight likes to have money in his pockets at all times. When he spends it he is nagging us for more. Last week he emptied his seven-year-old brother's piggy bank without our knowledge. I think this is a serious offense. What should I do to prevent such things from happening?

ROBBED PIGGY BANK
Dear Robbed Piggy Bank:
Don't let your boy have any extra money other than his allowance. If your boy wants more money let him earn it. If he wants to play bank robber make him pay back the taken money from his allowance plus 20 per cent interest.

HENRY
Dear Henry:
What should I do to a thirteen-year-old girl who likes to be dressed in the nicest clothes, but doesn't take care of them.

DISCOURAGED
Dear Discouraged:
Don't worry, soon your girl will have boy friends and she will take care of her clothes.

IT'S YOUR MOVE
With an unthinking player handling the White checkers, this contest might go on for an hour. But put White in the hands of an expert and the game should be over in seconds flat. How do you rate as a player? Let's see.

It's White's turn, moving up the board. White wins in four moves. Champ Millard Hopper's solution is given below.

TRY IT FOR FUN
Joe took a trip to visit his mother. He travelled 1,040 miles in 12 hours by train and plane. He spent twice as much time on the train as he did on the plane, but he travelled only one-third as fast. What was his average rate of speed on each.

If you remember your algebra, this should be easy.

Answers: 1. 1040 miles per hour; 2. 1040 miles per hour; 3. 1040 miles per hour; 4. 1040 miles per hour; 5. 1040 miles per hour; 6. 1040 miles per hour; 7. 1040 miles per hour; 8. 1040 miles per hour; 9. 1040 miles per hour; 10. 1040 miles per hour.

HIDDEN TREES
Names of seven common trees are to be found in the following sentences by putting together consecutive letters in two or more words. For example: the second of two concealed tree names in the first sentence is oak, as indicated in words "to a kiln." Another tree is concealed in the same sentence.

1. The damp lumber was sent to a kiln to be dried.
2. When the rain began, my wife wanted to cancel my arrangements.

3. You can expect a samurai to help in every way.
4. The careless surveyor's map left much to be guessed.

5. Ned did not wish to dump his problem on his father.
6. Dad was not pleased to learn Will Owens would be his son-in-law.

How quickly can you name the seven trees?

Answers: 1. Oak; 2. Birch; 3. Elm; 4. Maple; 5. Pine; 6. Spruce; 7. Fir.

COLORFUL BIRD SERIES—NO. 1

Artist Jane Niebrugge, a devoted birdwatcher, has devised a series of drawings designed to acquaint readers with outstanding species of birds. You are invited to color the diagrams, using the coloring details provided below. We think you'll find this coloring chore almost as much fun as sighting specimens in the field. Indeed, as your knowledge of colors and markings increase, you may be prompted to do some "watching" too.

Specimen No. 1, above, is a bird found in North America, ranging from the United States south into Mexico and British Honduras. This fellow's rich, rolling whistle is often heard deep in thickets and heavy brush. Its nests, built loosely of bark strips, twigs and grasses, is placed in a bush-vine or low, thick-foliaged tree. Its egg, basically

Eight men agree to buy a tent. Two of them find they are unable to pay, so each of the others has to pay $4 more than he had expected to pay. What is the cost of the tent? Find an opponent and see who can get the answer first.

You'll probably need pencil and paper for this one.

MAKE A RING-CATCH TOY
An amusing toy, somewhat similar to many skill-testing devices employed by the American Indians, can be made at home easily. Materials required are a stick about 18 inches long and as thick as a lead pencil, two curtain rings and a piece of string about six feet long.

Tie the middle of the string to the centre of the stick and fasten a ring at each of the string ends.

Hold the stick in the middle, and try to get the rings on opposite ends of the stick by manipulating the stick and rings without touching either of the latter with your free hand.

Catching one ring, it develops, is a simple matter, but as soon as you try to get the other ring on the opposite end, the first one will slide off.

TEST OF GOOD LISTENING HABITS
Tired birdwatchers who wish to rest their eyes a bit can maintain a vigil here via their ears. By what sound is it possible to establish the identity of each of the following?

1. Owls; 2. Ravens; 3. Peacocks; 4. Crows; 5. Geese; 6. Magpies; 7. Cockerels; 8. Pigeons; 9. Nightingales.

Answers: 1. Owl; 2. Raven; 3. Peacock; 4. Crow; 5. Goose; 6. Magpie; 7. Cockerel; 8. Pigeon; 9. Nightingale.

BEETLE BATTLE
BEETLE, TELL SARGE I WANT TO SEE HIM.

BUT, SIR...

DON'T ARGUE! JUST FIND HIM AND TELL HIM!

THE CAPTAIN WANTS YOU

WONDER WHAT THE RANGERS ARE DOING UP HERE...I HOPE THEY DIDN'T SEE THIMMY HEADING FOR THE WOLF DEN!

APARTMENT 3-G

WILLIAM BROOK! HERE! HERE! PHYLLIS DAVIS!

DAVID GREY! ISN'T DAVID GREY HERE? STOP! GREY DOESN'T LIKE SCHOOL, MISS WRIGHT!

MEANWHILE... DAVID, I CAN'T UNDERSTAND YOU! YOU'VE GOT TO GO TO SCHOOL...JUST AS I HAVE A JOB I'VE GOT TO GO TO!

I...I JUST CAN'T, DAD...

IT WASN'T THE TIME TO TELL VAGGIE, EVE, HE WAS SO...SO EXCITED ABOUT GIVING ME HIS MOTHER'S BROOCH.

I DO, JULIE.

NEXT TIME IT'LL BE DIFFERENT, JUST GIVE HIM THE FACTS—HE'S SMART ENOUGH TO FIGURE OUT THE FINALE.

NEXT TIME I WILL—AND I MEAN IT.

WHEN I BECOME THE CHAMPION, EVERYBODY WILL KNOW ME AND HONOR ME!

LOOK AT THOSE LAWN-MOWER CLIPPINGS! PHINEAS FORGOT TO CLEAN OUT HIS TROUSER CUFFS AGAIN!

HONESTLY! I DON'T SEE HOW HE COULD GET MORE ABSENT-MINDED!

FREDRICK HAS RETURNED TO THE CAFE PROPER FOR A SCHEDULED FLOOR SHOW.

IS IT ALL RIGHT FOR YOU TO BE SEEN HERE?

WITH YOU, I'LL PASS FOR A TOURIST.

MEANWHILE... AT ADMIRAL HUMPHREY'S QUARTERS IN NEW LONDON...

...NOTHING, YET, BUT WELL, IF YOU DO HEAR FROM MCBRIDE, DON'T WAIT UNTIL

★ Times Television Section ★★ Archie Moore Defends Title Tonight at 7 on 4 Four Williams' Plays 10:35 Tonight: Men of Action Series Sunday at 4

By PHIL LEE, Times TV Editor

It's a fair-to-middlin' weekend for sports fans, disciples of playwright Tennessee Williams and those interested in military achievements.

Starting at 5 this afternoon Channel 4's Wide World of Sports will offer a two-hour film covering the Canada Cup Golf Tournament that took place between June 1 and 4 at Dorado Beach Golf Club, Puerto Rico.

At 7 Channel 4 will carry the 15-round title fight between Archie Moore and the 2nd-ranked challenger, Giulio Rinaldi of Rome, Italy. At 10:35 tonight Channel 5's two-hour play of the Week will offer four plays by Tennessee Williams. Titles are listed below in the highlights.

And, finally, at 4 Sunday afternoon Channels 6 and 2 will kick off its new Men of Action series with the story of Col. David Stirling, who did more than anyone to upset the plans of Germany's General Rommel in the African desert. Now on to all highlights in order of their appearance.

BY QUEBEC PROFESSOR

Sask. Labor Law Hailed

MONTREAL (CP) — Prof. Roger Chartier of Laval University, Quebec City, said Friday Saskatchewan is the only Canadian province where the principles of liberty apply fully in union-management relations.

'AUTOBOGGANS' REPLACE DOGS

J. P. Deschatelets complained in the Commons Friday about the RCMP's continued use of sled dogs in the North, while other government departments operating there have turned to what he called "autoboggans."

The Montreal lawyer said it costs at least $30 a year to feed each dog. He suggested the RCMP could take another look at the situation and end up improving its efficiency and saving money.

Speaking at the Conference of Learned Societies, he defined four rules that put those principles into effect:

1. There should be as few restrictions as possible on what constitutes a "dispute" or a "working condition."
2. Government conciliation should be optional.
3. Where compulsory conciliation does exist, it should be short and to the point.
4. Conciliation should be an "educative" process, with opportunity for inquiry into new collective bargaining content and techniques, gathering of relevant information, and "dispassionate discussions" among union, management, government and university people.

"In Canada," he said, "those rules are applied only in Saskatchewan."

"Everywhere else, the parties are not allowed to enter into an agreement on certain matters. They are compelled to use government conciliation machinery exactly as determined by statute; no alternatives are set forth."

Post Office Denies Mail Box Forced Open

Post office authorities have denied the forcing of a mail box Wednesday night at Haultain and Mount Stephen. It had been previously reported to city police that the box had been forced but the post office said the mailman may have forgotten to lock it. The incident had been reported as another in recent series of mail box robberies in the city and outlying districts.

PLAY 'SALLY ANN' JAMBOREE TUESDAY

Fred Usher and his Hometowners, known to coast-to-coast radio audiences, will play a special show for the Matson Sunset Lodge campaign Tuesday evening over CJVI, starting at 7:30 p.m. Hometowners will play western, popular and Broadway music as well as sacred songs, will invite listeners to make pledges for the campaign by way of a battery of six telephones in the studio. The popular unit, which has been together for 15 years, will donate their services with the blessing of local 247 of the Musicians' Union. Pictured above are (back row) Bill Botten, Al Smith and Geoff Venables (lower row) Bob McGill, Fred Usher and Ernie Fullerton. As a special added attraction pianist Al Smith will be joined by organist Jack Lenaghan for some "Rolling Home" selections.

"Save-Your-Hair" Day Set For Monday

Scalp Specialist Here to Demonstrate New Home Treatment

Now is the time to carry out that long delayed resolution to "do something about your hair."

For Monday, June 12, is "Save-Your-Hair Day" in Victoria.

The event is sponsored by Harrison Hair and Scalp Specialists, largest organization of its kind in the Dominion. They have sent trichologist E. Woodhall here to personally examine hair-worried men and women from 1 p.m. to 8 p.m. Monday at the Hotel Sussex.

The Harrison program for preventing baldness by home treatment is explained by director M. D. Harrison, this way:

"Almost two million Canadian men are already bald or soon will be. How many women are bald, no one can estimate. Certainly all of these men and women regret their condition."

Can Prevent Baldness

"The shocking truth is that most of these bald people need not have lost their hair. Although baldness can not be 'cured,' it can most certainly be prevented. Our Harrison trichologists have developed methods of self-administered home treatment that are successful 95% of the time."

This dynamic young hair expert, whose main office is in Vancouver, has personally worked on the hair problems of thousands of men and women for 17 years. But he still can't understand why almost everybody postpones getting specialized help for their hair.

Don't Put It Off

"Your hair is in better condition today than it will be next month or even next week. That's why we urge you to see the Harrison trichologist before further damage is done. Find out Monday about our new home treatment methods for saving your hair."

"Then you won't wake up a few years from now to find yourself bald—and painfully aware that you need not have been."

M. D. Harrison, sponsor of "Save-Your-Hair Day," has worked with thousands of hair-worried men and women during 17 years.

Here's how to get your free scalp examination on "Save-Your-Hair Day":

Call at the Hotel Sussex Monday and ask for the suite number of trichologist E. Woodhall of Harrison Hair and Scalp Specialists. Any time between 1 and 8 p.m. He does not make appointments so come in at your convenience.

Get the Facts

If your condition is hopeless, he'll tell you so frankly. He does not accept cases involving systemic or organic disease. Such cases should be treated by a physician.

Otherwise, he'll tell you what's wrong with your hair and scalp, what you can and should do about it, how little of your time and money will be required to put your scalp in condition to grow healthy hair again.

Free Examination

Harrison emphasized that his treatment is neither "mail-order" nor "cure-all." Different scalp conditions require different procedures. "For that reason," he said, "we do not ever recommend a treatment without first making a personal scalp examination."

"For the same reason, we have one of our experts re-check your hair and scalp condition at regular intervals."

'Quixotic' Ideals Urged On High School Graduates

Individualism and nonconformity were the two ideals recommended to high school graduates Friday evening by Professor Charles H. Burchill, who urged them to retain something of the "quixotic" in their individual characters.

Speaking at one of five graduation ceremonies in the Greater Victoria district, Prof. Burchill of Royal Roads told members of the Victoria High School class of '61:

"Since the end of the 18th century the attitude of society has been to intensify conformity, to make people think and act alike."

AVOID THE MASS

"Make a stand against mass education and mass propaganda," he urged. "I recommend that you read Don Quixote."

"There is not enough of the quixotic spirit today," he told the 311 graduates.

Almost all the high schools had difficulty accommodating bumper crops of graduates and their parents and friends. Victoria High School's auditorium was jammed to capacity with standing-room only at the back of the hall, while at the Oak Bay High School ceremonies, 230 graduates sat in the bleachers of the school gymnasium and their admiring parents and friends took up the floor.

OAK BAY

The need to face challenges, to meet them and to conquer them, was stressed by Alan Macfarlane, MLA for Oak Bay, at Oak Bay Senior High School's graduation exercises.

Phony challenges of the "don't chicken" type must be separated from true challenges, he said.

"In a 'thinging-man's world' it is necessary to do what is right and reject what is wrong."

He advocated that the graduates of today receive a good education in their chosen work rather than follow the complacent trend of the "fat 50s."

"Because times were good," he said, "many people took the easy course and accepted jobs without proper training. That is why we hear so much about unemployment today."

ESQUIMALT

Superiority of aptitude among young people from 17 to 24 was asserted as a clinical discovery by Dr. W. H. Gaddes, head of Victoria College's psychology department, in his address to the 118 graduates of Esquimalt High School, but adds that:

"Experience combines with retained mental faculty as the polishing factors of maturity, success and happiness."

Reeve A. C. Wurtele of Esquimalt donated a copy of "Canada, Tomorrow's Giant," by Times editor Bruce Hutchison, to the graduating class.

MOUNT VIEW

To the 158 graduates of Mount View High School, Dr. J. F. K. English, deputy minister of education, said the most desirable qualities in young men and women are co-operation, perseverance and dependability.

"No capable student need be denied a higher education," he said.

In B.C. during the last year almost 4,000 students received more than $1,000,000 in aid from provincial government scholarships, loans and grants.

MOUNT DOUGLAS

Members of the graduating class at Mount Douglas High School were told by Rev. T. D. B. Ragg, of St. Luke's Anglican Church, that the opportunities awaiting them are "absolutely staggering."

The 89 graduates were

What Causes Baldness?

How many times have you heard men attempt to explain their loss of hair with one of these remarks:

"Oh, baldness runs in my family, so I just have to accept it" ... or "Well, it's natural for a man to lose his hair as he gets along in years" ... or "If you're going to be bald, you're going to be bald; and there's nothing you can do about it."

So many men have said such things for so many hundreds of years, these old ideas are still widely believed. But they are not supported by modern knowledge.

True, some few men do inherit a scalp structure that may predispose to early baldness. But any such tendency can be overcome by proper hair care.

As for the excuse of age, it is established now that men's hair naturally grows fastest in the years from 35 to 65. And certainly much can be done to stop hair loss, as the careful records kept by Harrison Hair and Scalp Specialists prove.

"Actually, the two most common causes of baldness," says hair expert M. D. Harrison, "are neglect and mistreatment of the hair."

Don't Resign Yourself

"Most men just don't take care of their hair. Consequently, they don't get very far along in life without hair trouble. They become 'balding' ... then just plain bald. And usually do nothing about it except perhaps experiment with some hair 'tonics' and cure-alls."

This famous authority urges that you do not resign yourself to baldness unless you are already bald.

Get expert help for your hair—Harrison Hair and Scalp Specialists help. Go in and talk with the Harrison expert Monday during "Save-Your-Hair Day."

Expert Answers Your Hair Questions Free

As a feature of "Save-Your-Hair Day" Harrison Hair and Scalp Specialists offer a free consultation service.

All you have to do is take your questions in person to their suite in the Hotel Sussex and let trichologist E. Woodhall, the Harrison expert, give you a complete examination.

These are the questions most people want information about:

1. How often should you wash your hair?
2. Which kind of shampoo is best for you?
3. Is brushing necessary?
4. What about dry or oily scalp?
5. Are "tonics" helpful?
6. When is dandruff dangerous to hair growth?
7. Can your hair be thickened?
8. What are home treatments like?

Take this list with you Monday to see Harrison Hair and Scalp Specialists.

CHECK YOURSELF HERE AND NOW!

Can't decide whether your hair needs expert attention? Generally, if you're concerned about your hair, you have good reason to be. Check this list of signs that point to a serious future:

- Have noticeable dandruff?
- Scalp hard, tight?
- Scalp itchy or irritated?
- Hair dry or greasy?
- Lose much hair in washing?
- Getting "highbrow"?
- Lose much hair in combing?
- Thin spot on crown?

If you've checked ONE of these conditions, you should see the Harrison Hair and Scalp Specialists on "Save-Your-Hair Day."

BOUNDARIES of proposed new nine-hole golf course near Beaver Lake are indicated by white broken line on this aerial photo. Plans for the course, submitted by John Carlow and Joseph Rainer, were enthusiastically approved by Victoria-Saanich beaches and parks committee Friday and referred to city council. Acting mayor Millard Mooney indicated council will likely call for competitive proposals.

MONTE ROBERTS

A week or so ago, this space was turned over to a letter from a constituent bemoaning the attitude of Victoria's citizens toward the Victoria Day parade.

This constituent said Victoria citizens had a tendency to sit on their hands, and were much too niggardly with their applause for those who put on a free show for them. All comments received to date—including a detailed indictment from M. P. Paine, who has suffered through the chore of organizing celebrations here—agree with the constituent.

But the comment I enjoyed most, because it was brief, pungent, and put me in my place, was the telephone call which said:

"Okay, snarly, you have a chunk of space in the paper. When did you last use it to throw your hat in the air and cheer?"

To which I can only mumble: "Well, shucks, I've been meaning to, but never quite got around to it."

I have been meaning, with reference to the parade in question, to raise a lusty huzzah for kennel owner Michael Williams, who gambled his dogs were well enough trained to herd sheep through the noise and confusion of city streets on fiesta day—and won his gamble.

I've also been meaning to raise a cheer for the behind-the-scenes members of the Royal Victoria Yacht Club, who have built the Swifsure Ocean Race from an entry of 20 or so to one of the biggest races on this coast—all in a short 10 years.

(I would mention Jack Gann in particular, but he is not particular about being mentioned.)

And a loud hurrah has been on the tip of my tongue for the volunteers who work for what is cornily termed a worthy cause.

There are more dog-nabbed worthy causes in this town than any place I've ever heard of, and for every dog-nabbed worthy cause you get worthy volunteers, ready to separate the rest of us from our worthy moola.

When you think of how much dough some of these worthy volunteers could be making on their own behalf in the time they devote to worthy causes (I don't dare mention names here), you wonder why the department of internal revenue doesn't hustle the volunteers back to producing internal revenue.

As far as I can figure it, all that's necessary to get a worthy cause rolling is to acquire one worthy volunteer, and he attracts additional worthy volunteers in a manner to prove the mathematical theory of permutations.

Perhaps this is why I have laid myself open to accusations of personal non-cheering about.

There's so much for cheering in this, the fairest city of them all, how does one know where to begin?

One of these days, I hope to find out.

Meanwhile, three of the best and a tiger for all hands who are doing the best they can.

LEAVING here next August to become British Columbia's Agent-General in London, John V. Fisher was presented with a set of silver flatware by Premier Bennett Friday. The premier referred to Mr. Fisher's valued services as economic adviser to the government and wished him luck in his new appointment. He will succeed B. M. Hoffmeister as agent-general.

17 Days' Grace For Taxpayers Of Esquimalt

Esquimalt residents will have an extra 17 days to pay their taxes.

Tax notices have been sent out to all property owners in the municipality and now have to be paid before July 14. After that date a five per cent penalty is added.

Extra time was granted because of the late issue of notices.

"We were held up quite a bit this year because of the school budget," Reeve A. C. Wurtele said today.

PACIFIC NORTHWEST GROUP ALSO UNHAPPY

Fountain Furore International

By HUMPHRY DAVY

The controversy over the design of a proposed $45,000 fountain at the Legislative Buildings, today took on international proportions.

Sculptors of British Columbia, Washington and Oregon stepped into the battle which started Wednesday when the B.C. government announced it was giving Victoria an illuminated fountain as a centennial gift.

Foreign-born citizens have also added to the outcry over the fountain's design.

The Northwest Institute of Sculpture with members in B.C. and the two U.S. states, describes as "amateurish nonsense" the illuminated fountain which includes two sea otters, an eagle, a wolf and a bear, symbolizing four B.C. Indian tribes.

Jack Harman, president of the B.C. chapter, said the fountain lacks unity of design.

The Institute, he said, felt the fountain should be designed by a competent artist.

UBC Designer

Mr. Harman, who designed the Turner fountain at the University of British Columbia and teaches at the Vancouver School of Art, said the institute is not supporting any particular school of art.

"We don't care if the fountain is realistic, modern or abstract as long as the design is good," he said. "Many of our members make realistic pieces of sculptures."

Meanwhile Victoria's foreign-born population—Austrian, Germans, Polish, Danish, Sweden, French, Italians—are half amused by the controversy.

Ole Svendsen, Danish interior decorator and designer, reflected the views of European population.

"While government officials mean well, they lack the qualities of leadership in the sphere of art," he said. "They are afraid of public opinion, afraid to promote something new."

He said the tendency is to cling to the Victorian concept of art.

"The main objective should be to have a beautiful fountain which citizens and visitors can admire," he said. "It should be a fountain in tune with the times."

Furniture OK

Mr. Svendsen found it strange that Victorians will go for "Danish furniture," which is sophisticated and modern, and yet oppose a modern design for their own products and monuments.

"You should advertise to the world that you too have imaginative designers and artists," he said. "You should have this in mind when you construct the fountain."

But the designer of the fountain, works department

planner Robert Savery, today found some support from a group of artists.

The Victoria Society of Artists which claims a membership of 54, said it finds Mr. Savery's design ideally suited for its proposed surroundings.

"This fountain will be in harmony with the adjacent Legislative Buildings," the society said. "Being romantic in concept, its value will not be depreciated by the fluctuations of contemporary fashion trends."

On the other hand, Lionel Thomas, UBC art professor, said: "I take offence at the word designer as applied to the originator of this. This fountain has no over-all related design."

'COMPETITION'

Beaver Lake Golf Course Draws Protest

An application to city council to build a nine-hole golf course and clubhouse at Beaver Lake was protested today by Percy Criddle of Sidney.

Mr. Criddle said the Beaver Lake enterprise, if permitted, would threaten his own plan to build a $500,000 country club, complete with 18-hole golf course, at Ardmore.

"I would not object to a municipal golf course at Beaver Lake," he said, "but I question if there is room for two private enterprise golf clubs between Beaver Lake and Ardmore."

Mr. Criddle, former Manitoba rancher, said he bought the land for Ardmore Club and was granted permission to go ahead by Saanich zoning board.

COMPETITION

"The Beaver Lake club, being nearer town, would certainly threaten the success of my enterprise."

Mr. Criddle said he would place his protest with Acting Mayor Millard Mooney.

Mr. Mooney is a member of the Victoria-Saanich beaches and parks committee which gave enthusiastic approval to the Beaver Lake plan Friday before referring it to city council.

The plan was submitted by two city businessmen, John Carlow and Joseph Rainer.

DRIVE PROGRESSES

$34,000 to Go In Lodge Drive

First division to go "over the top" in the Salvation Army's $245,000 campaign for Matson Sunset Lodge and Red Shield services has netted $91,000 and expects to break $100,000.

Today's total stands at $211,000.

The advance gifts and special names category predicts $110,000 by the end of the drive June 23.

Campaign chairman Stuart Keate hailed the work of the advance and special names group, which added $6,700 in large contributions this week.

He also praised the group led by Mrs. A. J. Campbell, whose residential canvass by letter and telephone has reached 86 per cent, or 43,500 of its objective.

Of the large contributions, these were cited: Hershel A.

Smith, of Smith Cedar Products Ltd., $1,200 — "An entirely spontaneous gift, which is greatly appreciated," said unit chairman Harold Hubbard.

Shell Oil Company, $2,000; BA Oil Co., $1,500; Lafarge Cement Co., $1,000, and B.C. Cement Co. Ltd., $1,000.

At a campaign meeting Friday it was noted the response to an appeal last week for individuals to send in their contribution forms resulted in $4,000 flowing in by Tuesday.

Residents who still have these mailed forms are urged to mail them back with their contributions as early as possible.

The public will take part in a special campaign feature Tuesday, at 7:30 p.m. when citizens may make bids on music played "live" over CJVI.

A battery of telephones will be set up at the radio station, where Fred Usher's Home-owners, Al Smith and Jack Lenaghan will announce the titles they are about to play. Callers will bid their Salvation Army donations against one another to have the selections played.

LAUNCHING WEDNESDAY

A new RCMP patrol vessel will be launched at 8 p.m. Wednesday from the ways of the Canoe Cove Boat Builders Limited.

At 36 feet overall, it is believed to be the largest fiberglass vessel ever built in Canada.

To be named the Advance, the patrol vessel will be sponsored by Mrs. Carl Roberts, wife of an RCMP inspector.

U.S. Radar Ship Open To Public

The United States radar picket ship USS Scanner, visiting Esquimalt, will be open to the public from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. daily, starting today and continuing through Wednesday.

She is berthed at the government jetty, and visitors may enter through the old main gate of HMCS Naden, Admirals at Colville.

Scanner is one of eight ships attached to Radar Picket Squadron 1, based at San Francisco, and guarding the West Coast of North America as "contiguous coverage" to the shore-based warning systems of NORAD.

Hers is the northernmost station in the seaborne picket line, about 400 miles west of Vancouver Island.

UP 50 PER CENT

Forests Hit As Mainland Fires Rage

The forest fire season gained in tempo during the week with almost 50% more fires reported so far this year than during a corresponding period in 1960.

A total of 493 fires, costing $103,890, have been reported since May 1, compared to a total of 339 outbreaks costing $27,120 for the same time last year.

Last week was the worst week so far this year, with 193 fires reported, including 74 on the PGE right-of-way.

Vancouver forest district, which includes Vancouver Island, has been the lightest-hit district in B.C. with 111 fires costing only $350.

Of the 66,000 acres burned in the province this year, 64,000 of them have been in Prince George district.

Sunset Ceremony Set for Tonight

Cadets of Shawnigan Lake Boys' School—RCSCC Cougar—will perform a sunset service on the lawn at the Legislative Buildings tonight at 8:30. The unit will parade with its band along the Causeway to the Cenotaph area where the ensign will be struck.

Due to graduation ceremonies at Greater Victoria high schools Friday night, a scheduled sunset service by RCSCC Rainbow was cancelled.

A cadet spokesman said a number of cadets were taking part in the graduations, making it impossible for the unit to parade a full guard.

Through a misunderstanding the city of Victoria representative and general public were not informed of the cancellation and turned up anyway.

ON HOSPITAL

Heavy Vote Sure

Voting on the $3,655,000 Cowichan district hospital plan was described today as "the greatest on record."

Claude A. Green, chairman of King's Daughters' Hospital board, said the turnout in Duncan was "tremendous."

"Three weeks ago at 9:20 a.m. I voted on a sewer by-law, and was the third person to cast a vote," he said. "I voted at the same time today on the hospital issue, and was the 100th."

He said the lineups were constant at both Duncan and North Cowichan voting booths, and that the Lake Cowichan voting had been reported as heavy.

Koksilah Valley, fourth district concerned in the four-way vote, expected its greatest turnout this afternoon.

Body Too Young To Be Missing Victoria Woman

Any connection between the finding of a girl's body floating in Deception Pass Thursday and missing 19-year-old Helen Neaves, 123 South Turner, was discounted today.

United States authorities placed the girl's age at between eight and 13 years and said she was picked up in the pass between Whidbey Island and Anacortes Point.

Mrs. Neaves has been missing since May 10 when she left for a fishing trip in a small boat from Shoal Harbor with her husband Robert, 24. A massive air-sea search for the couple was called off after five days then.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

Members of the Seattle Commandery No. 2 and Western Gate Preceptory No. 30 of the Knights Templar will parade from the Masonic temple on Fisgard Street to St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church on Sunday morning in full regalia.

The Shrine band will lead the parade, marshalled by H. E. N. Ockenden of the local preceptory.

In Colwood RCMP Friday George G. Cottier, 949 Orono, was fined $20 for impaired driving.

Stuart W. Fleming, 3141 Mars, pleaded guilty in Saanich police court Friday to obtaining $20 from Hewitt's Low Cost Food Market, 3931 Blenkinsop, and was remanded to Saturday on a charge of false pretences.

Condition of Victoria bartender John Dunbar has improved from "fair" to "fairly good," Royal Jubilee Hospital officials said today.

The well-known singer underwent intestinal surgery Wednesday.

The 22,000-ton tanker Michael Carras will enter Government Graving Dock Monday morning for survey and overhaul by Yarrows Ltd.

She was last here for refit in 1959. King Bros. Ltd. is Victoria agent.

Gary R. Henderson, 18, of 825 Burdett was fined $175 for impaired driving and $75 for driving while under suspension in Oak Bay police court Friday.

He was also prohibited from driving anywhere in Canada for two years.

Arthur Kenning Sheppard, 3089 Irma, was given a suspended sentence of 18 months and placed on a $500 bond in Esquimalt police court Friday.

He was charged with breaking and entering at the Gorge Road Coffee shop, 1215 Tillam, at 3 a.m. June 3.

Anna Matilda Lawrence, 1853 San Pedro, was fined $20 in city police court today for failing to yield to the Langford ambulance on an emergency run.

Douglas Rotary Club, 6 p.m. Hollywood House, Lt. Cmdr. Ben Ackerman, RCN, will give a talk on historical ship wrecks.

MONDAY MEETINGS

Victoria Gyro Club: Noon, Empress Hotel. Classification talks.

The Solarium Junior League will be in charge of refreshments.

Dean S. N. F. Chant of the University of British Columbia will be paid $15,000 for his work as chairman of the royal commission which made a three-year study of B.C.'s educational system.

The provincial cabinet approved payment Friday.

R. P. Walrod and John Liersch who also served on the commission will receive $7,500 each.

More than $2,000 will be offered in cash prizes at an Optimist bingo in Victoria Badminton Hall, Thursday at 8 p.m.

A $1,000 "pot-o-gold" or $1,000 cash in a full house game has to be won. There will also be $400 and $100 cash games.

White and Coral Pink Flowers Form Setting For Ely-Morten Wedding

Muscle of Purcell's Trumpet Voluntary greeted Sarah Honnor (Sally) Morten as she entered St. Patrick's Church, Oak Bay, this afternoon for her marriage to Patrick George Ely. Masses of rhododendrons, snapdragons and roses in shades of white and coral pink decorated the church for the ceremony at which Fr. M. J. McNamara officiated.

Parents of the young couple are Mr. and Mrs. T. G. Ely, 637 Byng Street, and Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Ely of Lindfield, Sussex, Eng. Mr. T. C. Ely gave his stepdaughter in marriage.

HARTNELL GOWN

An exquisite gown, designed by Hartnell of London, was worn by the bride. Fashioned in white organza, it featured a high neckline and very full skirt that swept back to a short train. Tiny pearl buttons highlighted front of gown and sleeves ended in lily points. Pearls, in orange blossom design, formed a tiny coronet that held the French illusion veil. Tallman roses and orange blossom syringa were in the bridal bouquet.

Mrs. Douglas Boucher was matron of honor for her sister. A wreath of white flowers in her hair complemented her gown of coral pink organza. White and coral pink baby gladioli were in her bouquet. Trio of petite bridesmaids were the three nieces of the bride; Robin, Jane and Sarah Boucher. Their white organza dresses were sashed in coral pink. Their shoes were in the same tone and they wore matching wreaths of tiny flowers in their hair and carried old-fashioned nosegays of pink and white flowers.

A kill in Macpherson tartan was worn by the page, Ian Boucher, nephew of the bride. Arthur Randle came from England to be best man and ushering guests to their pews were Eric Ely, San Francisco, and Douglas Boucher, West Vancouver, brother-in-law of the bride.

Organ music included Jesu Joy of Man's Desiring, Largo and Mendelssohn's Wedding March.

Arum lilies, delphiniums.

CLUB CALENDAR

Double Ring Ceremony In St. Aidan's Church

St. Aidan's United Church was scene of recent double ring ceremony which united Dian Carolyn, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Henderson, formerly of Winnipeg, and Charles Roger Massey, son of Mrs. A. Hall, 800 St. Charles Street.

The church was decorated with white carnations and lilacs for the wedding, solemnized by Rev. A. I. Avery.

A floor-length gown of corded taffeta and lace with bouffant finger-tip veil of illusion net, held by dainty crown of applied seed pearls, was chosen by the bride. Her flowers were white roses and lilacs. Mr. Henderson gave his daughter in marriage. Mrs. Joyce Nightingale sang "The Lord Is My Shepherd" during signing of the register.

Wedding In Oak Bay Church

Pale green chiffon over taffeta formed the afternoon gown chosen by Mrs. Elizabeth (Betty) Grace Engelhardt for her marriage to John Herbert Doughty-Davies in Oak Bay United Church this afternoon. Gown had a scooped neckline on the fitted bodice, three-quarter-length sleeves and a full skirt. Her hat was a froth of white organza flowers. Only jewelry was a strand of culture pearls and matching earrings, gift of the groom. She carried a nosegay of pink rosebuds and stephanotis.

Peonies in deep pink tones decorated the church for the ceremony at which Rev. A. Calder officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. V. Wilkinson, 1870 Ruby Road. Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Doughty-Davies, 2654 MacDonald Drive, are the groom's parents. Mr. Wilkinson gave his daughter in marriage.

Only attendant was Mrs. G. E. Simmons who wore an afternoon gown of pink lace, complemented with toning feathered whimsie. Pink and white carnations were in her colonial bouquet. G. E. Simmons was best man.

Leaving for a honeymoon trip to Banff, the new Mrs. Doughty-Davies donned a beige silk and wool sheath and matching jacket, beige flowered hat and toning accessories. Corsage was of yellow chrysanthemums.

On their return the newlyweds will make their home at 2617 Dalhousie Street.

Struggles Start at Early Age

By DOUG FORRESTER
(Special to the Times)

TOKYO — Because of the fierce competition for jobs in overcrowded Japan, the struggle for position begins at a very early age.

The very kindergarten to which a child is sent can quite conceivably influence the whole course of his future life. This is because it is recognized that certain kindergartens are suitable training grounds for certain elementary schools.

These, in turn, lead almost inevitably to specific middle schools and thence, similarly, to certain high schools and universities.

Each of these moves up the educational ladder involves an examination and while it is possible for certain bright students to break into a better educational chain half way along, this is not usual until the university level is reached. At that level we find students writing the entrance examination for one of the top universities as often as two, three, or even four times before they gain admission.

One small university of high reputation has three thousand applicants each year and from these admits only the top 175. So much depends on the quality of one's degree that it is not too uncommon for some of those who fail to commit suicide.

Three Top Ones

It is generally recognized that there are three top universities here in Tokyo, and their graduates have no trouble in finding jobs. These three are Tokyo University, which is state operated, and Keio and Waseda, both of which are private. Students come from all parts of Japan to attend these colleges and of a group of about 20 students with whom I have come in contact, only two are native Tokyoites.

The other universities have varying degrees of excellence and some of them have such a poor reputation that their graduates find it almost impossible to obtain work with any of the established firms. But since every white-collar worker, from the lowest clerk up, must have a degree of some kind before he can get work, even these inferior colleges have no difficulty in obtaining students.

With this constant pressure, this constant necessity for good grades, students do work and study very hard. Once they have gained admission to the university of their choice, they are often so fed-up with study, so thoroughly exhausted by the struggle that they tend to go to the opposite extreme and more or less drift through their college days.

This is possible because, with classes so large that public address systems must be used by the professors, there is no attempt made to keep attendance records.

Although all students must face entrance examinations at each successive level, once they have been admitted to a particular school they can be assured of passing along from grade to grade almost automatically.

To fail a student would be to make him lose face. Not only that, but the teacher would lose face, too, as having been incompetent with his instruction. This is another reason why students who have finally entered the university tend to slack off in their studies.

Towards the end of their college life they begin to think about the next step—getting a job. This again, means examinations. All of the major companies in Japan set annual examinations for prospective employees and the competition here is pretty desperate.

One of my friends, a Waseda student, wants to make a career of journalism and he is even now preparing for an examination which will be set by the great daily paper for which he wishes to work.

10 Out of 300

He will be examined on his writing ability, his general knowledge of world affairs, and his knowledge of English. He tells me that at least 300 will sit for this exam and from these the newspaper will select the top 10.

And once a young man has obtained a job with one of the major companies, what then?

He has security for one thing, and this is probably of the greatest importance. Prestige probably comes second.

Wages? Well, they sound appallingly low to us. For instance, another friend of mine, a recent top graduate from one of the best universities has begun working for one of the largest companies in Japan and his salary is about $30 a month.

Even in this country, this is scarcely a living wage and it will be years before even this bright lad will be earning enough to be able to consider marriage.

Semi-Annual Bonus

This matter of wages is a bit complex, though, because most companies pay their employees semi-annual bonuses which are based on the profits earned.

These bonuses are often quite considerable and are another example of a typically Japanese way of doing. If, for instance, the company has a bad year, then the bonus will be that much smaller.

Since the basic wage is not reduced no one loses face. Not only that, but in the case of organized labor there is no need to negotiate with the union when profits are low because wages are not altered—only the bonus will be smaller.

As far as I can discover, advancement within a company generally depends on seniority.

If there is any one thing that can speed up the process it is the friendship and favor of one's bosses. Since this is widely recognized, young men will often use a large portion of their low wages to buy gifts and entertainment for their superiors.

Signs of Change

It is true that there are signs of a change here. Many of the younger men are determined to try and alter this age-old system and to have promotion depend on talent and ability and hard work. But it is difficult to see how such a change can come very quickly. For one thing, bosses are accustomed to have their favors bought by gifts and favors and are not likely to want the system changed.

Even the young men who would like to see this system changed are likely to alter their viewpoint by the time they themselves are bosses. It will be all too easy for them to reason that since they went through the mill in their youth it is only just and fair that they reap the benefits

STILL SEEKING the national leadership of the Social Credit Party is George Hahn, who was defeated in the Esquimalt-Saanich byelection last month.

Mr. Hahn said Friday he expects his name will go before the Social Credit party convention in Ottawa July 4-7. Mr. Hahn was formerly member of parliament for New Westminster and reeve of Surrey once they are in a position to do so.

Incidentally, this whole business of gifts and presents runs like a bright thread through the whole of Japanese society and it will be speaking of it again in greater detail.

Another feature of Japanese life is that there is very little of the job changing that is so common in Canada. We accept the idea that a young man will often work at several different jobs before settling into his life work but to the Japanese this would be unthinkable.

Second Fathers

The thing is that the traditional family system spreads out into society as a whole and there is a strong flavor of paternalism in the employer's attitude towards his workers.

This is reciprocated and we have the bosses considered to be almost second fathers to whom utter loyalty is due. So, if an employee were so rash as to try and change his job he would find that prospective employers would look upon him with such suspicion that his chances of obtaining work would be negligible.

So, while the pattern is rigid it does offer the compensation of greater security. The Japanese farmers don't have it, neither do the fishermen. The land itself, subject to recurring disasters such as typhoons, floods, earthquakes and fires, is undependable. No wonder then, that job security looks so attractive to the young men entering the business world.

Left-Wing Movement

There is, among the university students today, a strong left-wing movement. This is the group that received so much publicity last year when the demonstrations in front of the Diet Building brought about the cancellation of President Eisenhower's visit to Japan and also caused the fall of the Kishi government. Their successes have encouraged them and they feel the beginnings of real strength.

And opposed to them is another, smaller group, of extreme rightists who many see as neo-fascists. This was the group behind the assassination of Socialist leader Asanuma last October.

Both these student groups have much to say and both of them are powerful influences in Japan today. I'll tell you more about them next.

Finland, with an area smaller than that of Newfoundland, has a population of more than 4,000,000.

PLAQUE commemorating the late Jennie MacGregor Morris, known as the "London mother" of the PPCLI, will be dedicated at Griesbach Barracks in Edmonton Sunday. Miss Morris, who died at Norfolk on March 5, 1960, adopted the Patricia during the First World War and made her private hotel in London a home away from home for all members of the regiment, and during the Second World War all ranks were equally welcome at her home in a London suburb.

Become Red Or Fall, K Tells Nasser

CAIRO (AP) — The newspaper Al Ahran reported Friday that Soviet Premier Khrushchev bitterly attacked President Nasser's suppression of communism in the United Arab Republic and predicted Nasser's downfall unless he embraced communism.

The report said Khrushchev told this to a delegation from the U.A.R. national assembly visiting Moscow May 3. The Soviet press recently has been demanding that the Communist party be allowed to operate in the U.A.R. It has been bitterly attacking Nasser's government for jailing local Communists.

However, Al Ahran said, Khrushchev expressed his appreciation at the independent foreign policy pursued by the U.A.R.

Live Polio Vaccine Safe To Swallow

REGINA (CP) — Dr. A. J. Rhodes, director of the School of Hygiene at the University of Toronto, after hearing information on oral polio vaccine tests in Saskatchewan, Manitoba and Nova Scotia, said Thursday the live polio vaccine is valuable and safe.

He added, however, that the Salk vaccine is still the recommended safeguard against polio.

The vaccine was tested this year in Prince Albert, Sask. and Wedgeport, N.S., where mass vaccinations were carried out. A team of doctors at the University of Manitoba in Winnipeg has been carrying out smaller, but more extensive tests.

Court Martial Set

COLORADO SPRINGS (UPI)—Col. William M. Banks, commander of the Boston air defence sector when 28 men were killed in the collapse of a Texas radar tower disaster, will be court martialled for dereliction of duty, it was announced Friday.

OFFICIAL WARNS

Danger of Slums From Overzoning

Too much zoning of land for commercial or industrial purposes can lead to the creation of future slums, municipal officers were warned Wednesday.

"Don't zone too much," said Capital Region Planning director A. H. Roberts during a panel discussion at the annual conference of the Municipal Officers Association of B.C. in the Empress Hotel.

In many cities there is in the centre a great big commercial zone which may spread out into the older residential sections, he said.

MORE RUNDOWN

"Here in Victoria we have seen that old houses in a commercial zone are generally more run down than houses of the same type and age in areas not designated for commercial use," said Mr. Roberts.

"These blighted houses can become the slums of the future."

"People in these zones think industry is coming so they just hang on—without improving their property—and wait for the developer."

"But if you are over-zoned, he is not going to come along."

HOW MUCH NEEDED

Mr. Roberts said that before officials zone land for commercial use—even though it may be ideally suited for the purpose—they should first determine how much land is needed by industry.

He warned also against the use of spot zoning.

"You must have some very strong grounds before you differentiate between one lot and another," he said.

"It is sometimes forgotten that zoning is used for the good of the land, not the individual. It should be looked upon as part of the development of the town as a whole."

Mr. Roberts suggested that municipalities should provide an easily understandable outline plan of zoning regulations in their own areas.

LEGAL VERBIAGE

At the moment, he said, if a resident asks to see a copy of the zoning bylaw he gets a voluminous, legally worded document "which I defy anybody but a lawyer to understand."

Donald South, planning division director of the provincial government's department of municipal affairs, urged municipalities to make a greater use of planning—not just zoning.

Planning, he said, is a way of getting better results from what is inevitably going to happen anyway.

COUGAR PELT SOUGHT AFTER

Taxi driver Maurice Kozak said today he has received long-distance calls from Calgary and Vancouver from collectors wanting to buy the pelt of the cougar he spotted at Douglas and Humboldt Street, early Thursday morning.

Mr. Kozak told them he had donated the skin to the provincial museum. City police presented it to him after shooting the cougar early Thursday morning.

Fulton Blasts Herridge On Student 'Spy' Issue

Minister Backs RCMP Checks

OTTAWA (CP)—Justice Minister Fulton took strong exception today to what he termed "puffed up" and unsubstantiated charges by a CCF MP against methods used by the RCMP to keep a check on the Canadian Communist movement.

Mr. Fulton said in the Commons during study of his department's estimates that he regretted that H. W. Herridge (CCF—Kootenay West) had not consulted with either himself or his department before making "sensational" charges against RCMP security and intelligence work.

Mr. Herridge said students at Ottawa universities had told him they were being asked to act as "stool pigeons" by RCMP constables. They were being asked to "inform" on other students who might have Communist or leftist leanings.

RCMP officers, Mr. Herridge said, were asking students to act as "stool pigeons" by RCMP constables. They were being asked to "inform" on other students who might have Communist or leftist leanings.

CAPTURED

Free for almost 11 months after being the first convict to escape from Stony Mountain Penitentiary in Manitoba, Percy Moggey, 56, was captured by the RCMP today at a log shack near Lunder, 75 miles northwest of Winnipeg. Moggey had been placed on the RCMP's 'most wanted' list in January.

Audain May Be Released

VANCOUVER (CP)—A segregation-hating University of British Columbia student may shortly be released from a southern United States jail where he was sentenced for eating in the Negro section of a bus depot restaurant.

"But," said Michael Audain of Victoria in a telephone interview from Jackson, Miss., Friday, "if I was released today I would re-enter the colored facilities of the bus depot."

Audain was jailed Wednesday when convicted of charges of breach of the peace.

Great-great-grandson of James Dunscombe, one of B.C.'s most colorful premiers and lieutenant-governors, Audain did not elaborate on plans being worked out by the federal justice department to free him.

Sandbags 'Swallowed'

QUEEN MARKS BIRTHDAY

Spectacular Troop Review

LONDON (Reuters)—The Queen today took the salute in one of the world's most spectacular displays of military pomp—the trooping the color ceremony.

Poland Buys More Wheat On Credit

OTTAWA (CP)—Sale of another 3,750,000 bushels of wheat to Poland on a credit basis was announced in the Commons today by Agriculture Minister Alvin Hamilton.

He said a contract for 100,000 tons was signed between the Canadian wheat board and officials of the Polish national trade organization. A contract for a similar amount was announced earlier this week.

Mr. Hamilton said the total amount under the two contracts is 7,500,000 bushels—all of it to be shipped during the current crop year which ends July 31.

He said the terms are the same as for the first contract—10 per cent cash with one-third of the balance payable two years after date of shipment, the next 2½ years after shipment and the remainder three years after shipment.

The Crown-owned Export Credits Insurance Corporation had been authorized by the government to provide insurance for the credit arrangements.

Poland is the fourth Communist country to buy Canadian wheat this year. The others are Red China, Russia and Czechoslovakia.

Thousands of Britons and tourists lined the huge Horse Guards parade ground as the Queen, riding a 10-year-old chestnut mare named Imperial, reviewed bearskin-hatted troops. The Queen rode side-saddle.

It was the 10th time since her accession that the Queen took the salute marking her official birthday. Her actual birthday came April 21 when she turned 35.

But today was the actual birthday of her husband, Prince Philip, who turned 40. Philip rode behind the Queen along Pall Mall to the Horse Guards parade ground about a mile from Buckingham Palace for the ceremony.

WEARS GUARDS UNIFORM The Queen wore a scarlet Guards tunic with the Whistle badge of the 2nd Battalion of the Scots Guards, chosen for today's ceremony.

The Queen Mother and Princess Anne drove in an open carriage from the palace. Surrounding the Queen was a sovereign's escort of the Household Cavalry, their gold helmets glinting in the bright sunshine.

The Queen and the trooping the color ceremony fascinated thousands of Moscow televisioners today.

The reception of the first London-Moscow telecast was superb. The 80-minute telecast was in return for the telecast of the Moscow May Day parade when space man Yuri Gagarin returned in triumph to the Soviet capital.

TIME 'STANDS STILL' FOR QUEEN'S ARRIVAL

LONDON (UPI)—The versatile Scots Guards made time stand still today for Queen Elizabeth at the traditional "trooping of the colors" birthday parade.

By tradition the Queen arrives at the parade grounds on the stroke of 11. She left Buckingham Palace late today but the Scots Guard gallantly rose to the occasion. An officer was dispatched to the tower. The hour came but no chimes rang out. Puzzled spectators looked at their watches and back at the clock.

Then the Queen came into view and the chimes rang out. The Scots Guards had stopped the clock—just long enough.

New Health Plan Delaying Budget

OTTAWA (UPI)—A Conservative source suggested today that the federal budget is being delayed to include some provision for an overall national health plan.

A Saskatchewan member of Parliament told United Press International that the federal government was "in a race" with Saskatchewan Premier T. C. Douglas, the leading contender for the New Party federal leadership, to get a health insurance program on the statute books.

"The prime minister is not going to let us lose," the MP said.

The government took the first step toward establishing such a plan some time ago by appointing Saskatchewan Chief Justice Emmett Hall to head a royal commission study into the question.

Despite the apparent time lag needed to get its work under way, the Conservative MP said the Hall commission had been asked to provide the government with some estimate of its proposed recommendations in time for Finance Minister Donald Fleming's 1961-62 budget.

"It is vital that the government know the cost of the proposed plan so that it can make initial provision for it in the budget," the source said.

B.C. YOUTH ACCUSED OF MURDER

'I Want My Son to Give Himself Up'

VANCOUVER (CP)—A father today urged his son, charged with murder, to give himself up to police.

"I want my son to come to me or go to the police," said Tom Brown of Klemtu, B.C., after spending weary hours searching for his son, Thomas Clifford, 19, Friday night.

Thomas is charged with murder in the beating death Wednesday of Edwin John Douglas, 41, of Port Edward near Prince Rupert.

The elder Brown asked that this note be published: "Sonny: Please contact your daddy. He is in town and looking for you, very anxious to see you. You will find him at the usual hotel. He wants to help you."

ON TRACTORS

Castro Willing To Bargain

HAVANA (AP)—Fidel Castro said today he will receive a four-man bargaining team from the United States to work out details of swapping 1,200 captive Cuban rebels for 500 tractors.

But the prime minister raised anew his alternate proposal to trade the rebels captured in the April invasion for "political prisoners" held by the United States, Puerto Rico, Nicaragua and Guatemala.

Castro notified the U.S. Tractors-for-Freedom Committee that he would receive its technicians, provided they have full power to negotiate the tractor-prisoner exchange as "spelled out" by the Cuban prisoners' mission sent to the United States to broach his offer.

The Freedom Committee announced in Detroit its bargaining team will fly to Havana Monday.

PREFERS TOP MEN

In his note to the freedom group, Castro said he would have preferred leading members of the committee itself—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt and Milton Eisenhower—come to Havana, "but that is not indispensable."

He insisted, however, that the bargaining mission "must have powers to discuss the quality and amount of indemnification Cuba is asking."

"Your committee cannot decide by itself what kind of equipment Cuba is going to accept as compensation for all the material damage done by the aggressive actions launched from the United States against our country."

Wreckage Sighted

TOKYO (AP)—Wreckage and life rafts believed to be from a missing U.S. Air Force plane were reported Sunday to have been found in the Pacific. No trace was found of the eight crewmen.

LAST KERNEL SWEEP FROM SHIP'S HOLDS

VANCOUVER (CP)—Dockworkers say ships returning here to pick up their second grain loads for Communist China have the cleanest holds they have ever seen—swept of the last grain of wheat.

Crew members say even dust and chaff are carefully garnered by dockworkers in China so that no edible material will be wasted.

In North China ports where the Canadian grain is being unloaded, the work is done mainly by hand, long lines of men and women passing baskets from one to another, the sailors say.

Only in the case of converted oil tankers, where hand discharge is impossible, is the vacuum pump used.

This bizness o' university students spyin' on whut th' others are doin' ain't very nice—specially durin' examinations.

Way some o' th' critics feel about th' fountain, some of em' wouldn't even go jump in it.

Complettin' twelve years o' education should be viewed merely as th' start of another twelve.

MONTE ROBERTS

A week or so ago, this space was turned over to a letter from a constituent bemoaning the attitude of Victoria's citizens toward the Victoria Day parade.

This constituent said Victoria citizens had a tendency to sit on their hands, and were much too niggardly with their applause for those who put on a free show for them. All comments received to date—including a detailed indictment from M. P. Paine, who has suffered through the chore of organizing celebrations here—agree with the constituent.

But the comment I enjoyed most, because it was brief, pungent, and put me in my place, was the telephone call which said:

"Okay, snarly, you have a chunk of space in the paper. When did you last use it to throw your hat in the air and cheer?"

To which I can only mumble: "Well, shucks, I've been meaning to, but never quite got around to it."

I have been meaning, with reference to the parade in question, to raise a lousy huzzah for kennel owner Michael Williams, who gambled his dogs were well enough trained to herd sheep through the noise and confusion of city streets on fiesta day—and won his gamble.

I've also been meaning to raise a cheer for the behind-the-scenes members of the Royal Victoria Yacht Club, who have built the Swiftsure Ocean Race from an entry of 20 or so to one of the biggest races on this coast—all in a short 10 years.

I would mention Jack Gann in particular, but he is not particular about being mentioned.

And a loud hurrah has been on the tip of my tongue for the volunteers who work for what is cornily termed a worthy cause.

There are more dog-nabbed worthy causes in this town than any place I've ever heard of, and for every dog-nabbed worthy cause you get worthy volunteers, ready to separate the rest of us from our worthy moola.

When you think of how much dough some of these worthy volunteers could be making on their own behalf in the time they devote to worthy causes (I don't dare mention names here), you wonder why the department of internal revenue doesn't hustle the volunteers back to producing internal revenues.

As far as I can figure it, all that's necessary to get a worthy cause rolling is to acquire one worthy volunteer, and he attracts additional worthy volunteers in a manner to prove the mathematical theory of permutations.

Perhaps this is why I have laid myself open to accusations of personal non-cheering about.

There's so much for cheering in this, the fairest city of them all, how does one know where to begin?

One of these days, I hope to find out. Meanwhile, three of the best and a tiger for all hands who are doing the best they can.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

Members of the Seattle Commandery No. 2 and Western Gate Preceptory No. 30 of the Knights Templar will parade from the Masonic temple on Fisgard Street to St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church on Sunday morning in full regalia.

The Shrine band will lead the parade, marshalled by H. E. N. Oekenden of the local preceptory.

In Colwood RCMP court Friday George G. Cottier, 940 Orono, was fined $20 for impaired driving.

Stuart W. Fleming, 3141 Mars, pleaded guilty in Saanich police court today to obtaining $20 from Hewitt's Low Cost Food Market, 3931 Blenkinsop, and was remanded to Saturday.

Condition of Victoria bartender John Dunbar has improved from "fair" to "fairly good," Royal Jubilee Hospital officials said today.

The well-known singer underwent intestinal surgery Wednesday.

The 22,000-ton tanker Michael Carras will enter Government Dock Monday morning for survey and overhaul by Yarrows Ltd.

She was last here for refit in 1959. King Bros. Ltd. is Victoria agent.

Gary R. Henderson, 18, of 825 Burdett was fined $75 for impaired driving and $75 for driving while under suspension in Oak Bay police court Friday.

He was also prohibited from driving anywhere in Canada for two years.

Arthur Kenning Sheppard, 3089 Irma, was given a suspended sentence of 18 months and placed on a $500 bond in Esquimalt police court Friday.

He was charged with breaking and entering at the Gorge Road Coffee shop, 1215 Tillamook, at 3 a.m. June 3.

Anna Matilda Lawrence, 1853 San Pedro, was fined $20 in city police court today for failing to yield to the Langford ambulance on an emergency run.

MONDAY MEETINGS

Victoria Gyro Club: Noon, Empress Hotel. Classification talks.

Douglas Rotary Club: 6 p.m., Holyrood House. Lt. Cmdr. Ben Ackerman, RCN, will give a talk on historical shipwrecks.

Dean S. N. F. Chant of the University of British Columbia will be paid $15,000 for his work as chairman of the royal commission which made a three-year study of B.C.'s educational system.

The provincial cabinet approved payment Friday.

R. P. Walred and John Liersch who also served on the commission will receive $7,500 each.

More than $2,000 will be offered in cash prizes at an Optimist bingo in Victoria Badminton Hall, Thursday at 8 p.m.

A $1,000 "pot-o-gold" or $1,000 cash in a full house game has to be won. There will also be $400 and $100 cash games.

The Solarium Junior League will be in charge of refreshments.

LAUNCHING WEDNESDAY

A new RCMP patrol vessel will be launched at 8 p.m. Wednesday from the ways of the Canoe Cove Boat Builders Limited.

At 36 feet over-all, it is believed to be the largest fiberglass vessel ever built in Canada.

To be named the Advance, the patrol vessel will be sponsored by Mrs. Carl Roberts, wife of an RCMP inspector.

PACIFIC NORTHWEST GROUP ALSO UNHAPPY

Fountain Furore International

By HUMPHRY DAVY

The controversy over the design of a proposed $45,000 fountain at the Legislative Buildings, today took on international proportions.

Sculptors of British Columbia, Washington and Oregon stepped into the battle which started Wednesday when the B.C. government announced it was giving Victoria an illuminated fountain as a centennial gift.

Foreign-born citizens have also added to the outcry over the fountain's design.

The Northwest Institute of Sculpture with members in B.C. and the two U.S. states, describes as "amateurish nonsense" the illuminated fountain which includes two sea otters, an eagle, a wolf and a bear, symbolizing four B.C. Indian tribes.

Jack Harman, president of the B.C. chapter, said the fountain lacks unity of design.

The Institute, he said, felt the fountain should be designed by a competent artist.

UBC Designer

Mr. Harman, who designed the Turner fountain at the University of British Columbia and teaches at the Vancouver School of Art, said the institute is not supporting any particular school of art.

"We don't care if the fountain is realistic, modern or abstract, as long as the design is good," he said. "Many of our members make realistic pieces of sculptures."

Meanwhile Victoria's foreign-born population—Austrian, Germans, Polish, Danish, Swedish, French, Italians—are half amused by the controversy.

Ole Svendsen, Danish interior decorator and designer, reflected the views of European population.

"While government officials mean well, they lack the qualities of leadership in the sphere of art," he said. "They are afraid of public opinion, afraid to promote something new."

He said the tendency is to cling to the Victorian concept of art.

"The main objective should be to have a beautiful fountain which citizens and visitors can admire," he said. "It should be a fountain in tune with the times."

Furniture OK

Mr. Svendsen found it strange that Victorians will go for "Danish furniture," which is sophisticated and modern, and yet oppose a modern design for their own products and monuments.

"You should advertise to the world that you too have imaginative designers and artists," he said. "You should have this in mind when you construct the fountain."

But the designer of the fountain, works department

planner Robert Savery, today found some support from a group of artists.

The Victoria Society of Artists which claims a membership of 54, said it finds Mr. Savery's design ideally suited for its proposed surroundings.

"This fountain will be in harmony with the adjacent Legislative Buildings," the society said. "Being romantic in concept, it's value will not be depreciated by the fluctuations of contemporary fashion trends."

On the other hand, Lionel Thomas, UBC art professor, said: "I take offence at the word designer as applied to the originator of this. This fountain has no over-all related design."

'COMPETITION'

Beaver Lake Golf Course Draws Protest

An application to city council to build a nine-hole golf course and clubhouse at Beaver Lake was protested today by Percy Criddle of Sidney.

Mr. Criddle said the Beaver Lake enterprise, if permitted, would threaten his own plan to build a $500,000 country club, complete with 18-hole golf course, at Ardmore.

"I would not object to a municipal golf course at Beaver Lake," he said, "but I question if there is room for two private enterprise golf clubs between Beaver Lake and Ardmore."

Mr. Criddle, former Manitoba rancher, said he bought the land for Ardmore Club and was granted permission to go ahead by Saanich zoning board.

COMPETITION

"The Beaver Lake club, being nearer town, would certainly threaten the success of my enterprise."

Mr. Criddle said he would place his protest with Acting Mayor Millard Mooney.

Mr. Mooney is a member of the Victoria-Saanich beaches and parks committee which gave enthusiastic approval to the Beaver Lake plan Friday before referring it to city council.

The plan was submitted by two city businessmen, John Carlow and Joseph Rainer.

U.S. Radar Ship Open To Public

The United States radar picket ship USS Scanner, visiting Esquimalt, will be open to the public from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. daily, starting today and continuing through Wednesday.

She is berthed at the government jetty, and visitors may enter through the old main gate of HMCS Naden, Admirals at Colville.

Scanner is one of eight ships attached to Radar Picket Squadron 1, based at San Francisco, and guarding the West Coast of North America as "continuous coverage" to the shore-based warning systems of NORAD.

Hers is the northernmost station in the seaborne picket line, about 400 miles west of Vancouver Island.

Forests Hit As Mainland Fires Rage

The forest fire season gained in tempo during the week with almost 50% more fires reported so far this year than during a corresponding period in 1960.

A total of 493 fires, costing $103,890, have been reported since May 1, compared to a total of 339 outbreaks costing $27,120 for this time last year.

Last week was the worst week so far this year, with 193 fires reported, including 74 on the PGE right-of-way.

Vancouver forest district, which includes Vancouver Island, has been the lightest-hit district in B.C., with 111 fires costing only $350.

Sunset Ceremony Set for Tonight

Cadets of Shawnigan Lake Boys' School—RCSCC Cougar—will perform a sunset service on the lawn at the Legislative Buildings tonight at 8:30. The unit will parade with its band along the Causeway to the Cenotaph area where the ensign will be struck.

Due to graduation ceremonies at Greater Victoria high schools Friday night, a scheduled sunset service by RCSCC Rainbow was cancelled.

A cadet spokesman said a number of cadets were taking part in the graduations, making it impossible for the unit to parade a full guard.

Through a misunderstanding the city of Victoria Representative and general public were not informed of the cancellation and turned up anyway.

'SECRET' WEAPON NOW IN USE

Why Bother With Meters?

By PETER MATTHEWS

Somebody's always taking the fun out of life.

The little game of "put a nickel in my car" which some downtown parkers have been playing for years is ended.

The game has involved business men whose lunch lasts more than an hour, or get tied up in business appointments; as well as "meter-feeders" who appropriate a parking space for the business day by an hourly nickel.

It's quite true the parking bylaw forbids a person to park more than an hour in one spot, but so long as a person could keep the "violation" lever out of sight who was to prove he was there more than an hour?

But now commissioners have been supplied a "secret" weapon to counteract the play.

Besides checking the meters for violations, they will mark tires with colored chalk to make sure a car stays no longer than its allotted hour.

If the mark is still there after an hour, a ticket will be issued, no matter whether a violation is shown or not.

The chalk sticks are similar to those used by city motorcycle police although shorter. But, with infinite cunning, the engineer's department has not laid down any specific color chalk and added hastily that the color could be changed from day to day.

One motorist's sharp rejoinder today was: "What do we need the meters for if the tires are to be marked anyway? This is how the police used to check parking before the meters came into use. Seems like duplication to me!"

ON HOSPITAL

Heavy Vote Sure

Voting on the $3,655,000 Cowichan district hospital plan was described today as "the greatest on record."

Claude A. Green, chairman of King's Daughters' Hospital board, said the turnout in Duncan was "tremendous."

"Three weeks ago at 9:20 a.m. I voted on a sewer by-law, and was the third person to cast a vote," he said. "I voted at the same time today on the hospital issue, and was the 100th."

He said the lineups were constant at both Duncan and North Cowichan voting booths, and that the Lake Cowichan voting had been reported as heavy.

Body Too Young To Be Missing Victoria Woman

Any connection between the finding of a girl's body floating in Deception Pass Thursday and missing 19-year-old Helen Neaves, 123 South Turner, was discounted today.

United States authorities placed the girl's age at between eight and 13 years and said she was picked up in the pass between Whidbey Island and Anacortes Point.

Mrs. Neaves has been missing since May 10 when she left for a fishing trip in a small boat from Shoal Harbor with her husband Robert, 24.

A massive air-sea search for the couple was called off after five days then.

Veck, Greenberg Bought Out of Sox

CHICAGO (AP)—Arthur C. Allyn today announced he had bought out his partners, Bill Veck and Hank Greenberg, in the 54-per-cent majority holdings of the Chicago White Sox.

Allyn said the move was necessitated mainly by the illness of Veck, the White Sox president, who in March, 1959, led a syndicate purchase of stock. The minority stockholder is Chuck Comiskey, who owns 46 per cent.

Mexican Takes Early Le Mans Lead

LE MANS, France (AP)—Pedro Rodriguez of Mexico battled his way into an early lead today in the gruelling 24-hour Le Mans road race classic.

The 19-year-old millionaire's son in his privately owned three-litre Ferrari had waged furious warfare for the lead with defending champion Olivier Gendebien of Belgium.

Poland Buys More Wheat On Credit

OTTAWA (CP)—Sale of another 3,750,000 bushels of wheat to Poland on a credit basis, was announced in the Commons today by Agriculture Minister Alvin Hamilton.

He said a contract for 100,000 tons was signed between the Canadian wheat board and officials of the Polish national trade organization. A contract for a similar amount was announced earlier this week.

Mr. Hamilton said the total amount under the two contracts is 7,500,000 bushels—all of it to be shipped during the current crop year which ends July 31.

He said the terms are the same as for the first contract—10 per cent cash with one-third of the balance payable two years after date of shipment, the next 2½ years after shipment and the remainder three years after shipment.

The Crown-owned Export Credits Insurance Corporation had been authorized by the government to provide insurance for the credit arrangements.

Poland is the fourth Communist country to buy Canadian wheat this year. The others are Red China, Russia and Czechoslovakia.

Sandbags 'Swallowed'

TRAIL (CP)—A large fissure opened up behind a Kootenay River dike Friday night and swallowed up 5,000 sandbags before the flow of water was checked.

The boils, weakspots where water bubbles up behind the dikes, are the major problem facing flood fighters in the battle to save 50,000 acres of farmland in the Crescent Valley, 60 miles east of here.

Otherwise the dikes are holding their own.

ON TRACTORS

Castro Willing To Bargain

HAVANA (AP)—Fidel Castro said today he will receive a four-man bargaining team from the United States to work out details of swapping 1,200 captive Cuban rebels for 500 tractors.

But the prime minister raised anew his alternate proposal to trade the rebels captured in the April invasion for "political prisoners" held by the United States, Puerto Rico, Nicaragua and Guatemala.

Castro notified the U.S. Tractors-for-Freedom Committee that he would receive its technicians, provided they have full power to negotiate the tractor-prisoner exchange as "spelled out" by the Cuban prisoners' mission sent to the United States to broach his offer.

The Freedom Committee announced in Detroit its bargaining team will fly to Havana Monday.

In his note to the freedom group, Castro said he would have preferred leading members of the committee itself—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt and Milton Eisenhower—come to Havana, "but that is not indispensable."

He insisted, however, that the bargaining mission "must have powers to discuss the quality and amount of indemnification Cuba is asking."

"Your committee cannot decide by itself what kind of equipment Cuba is going to accept as compensation for all the material damage done by the aggressive actions launched from the United States against our country."

QUEEN MARKS BIRTHDAY

Spectacular Troop Review

LONDON (Reuters)—The Queen today took the salute in one of the world's most spectacular displays of military pomp—the trooping the color ceremony.

Thousands of Britons and tourists lined the huge Horse Guards parade ground as the Queen, riding a 10-year-old chestnut mare named Imperial, reviewed beastring-hatted troopers. The Queen rode side-saddle.

It was the 10th time since her accession that the Queen took the salute marking her official birthday. Her actual birthday came April 21 when she turned 35.

But today was her actual birthday of her husband, Prince Philip, who turned 40. Philip rode behind the Queen

CAPTURED

Free for almost 11 months after being the first convict to escape from Stony Mountain Penitentiary in Manitoba, Percy Moggey, 56, was captured by the RCMP today at a log shack near Lundar, 75 miles northwest of Winnipeg. Moggey had been placed on the RCMP's "most wanted" list in January.

Ottawa 'In Race' With Douglas

OTTAWA (UPI)—A Conservative source suggested today that the federal budget is being delayed to include some provision for an over-all national health plan.

A Saskatchewan member of Parliament told United Press International that the federal government was "in a race" with Saskatchewan Premier T. C. Douglas, the leading contender for the New Party federal leadership, to get a health insurance program on the statute books.

"The prime minister is not going to let us lose," the MP said.

The government took the first step toward establishing such a plan some time ago by appointing Saskatchewan Chief Justice Emmett Hall to the question. The four other members of the commission, however, have yet to be named.

Despite the apparent time lag needed to get its work under way, the Conservative MP said the Hall commission had been asked to provide the government with some estimate of its proposed recommendations in time for Finance Minister Donald Fleming's 1961-62 budget.

"It is vital that the government know the cost of the proposed plan so that it can make initial provision for it in the budget," the source said.

STUDENT 'SPY' ISSUE

Fulton Backs RCMP Checks

OTTAWA (CP)—Justice Minister Fulton took strong exception today to what he termed "puffed up" and unsubstantiated charges by a CCF MP against methods used by the RCMP to keep a check on the Canadian Communist movement.

Mr. Fulton said in the Commons during study of his department's estimates that he regretted that H. W. Herridge (CCF—Kootenay West) had not consulted with either himself or his department before making "sensational" charges against RCMP security and intelligence work.

Mr. Herridge said students at Ottawa universities had told him they were being asked to act as "stool pigeons" by RCMP constables. They were being asked to "inform" on other students who might have Communist or leftist leanings.

RCMP officers, Mr. Herridge said, were asking students to "spy" on other students associated with the ban-the-bomb movement and even those interested in the CCF-New Party club.

"What do you think of that?" he said. The students had rejected the suggestions "with scorn."

Mr. Fulton said there should be some understanding about the security work of the RCMP. The work was necessary to enable the government to know the extent of the Communist threat in Canada.

The RCMP would be negligent in its duty if it turned a blind eye to the fact that the avowed objective of Canadian Communists is to infiltrate Canadian universities.

Friday Mr. Fulton declined to give the number of known Communists in Canada but said "we do have a Communist threat." (See in Parliament, Page 3.)

B.C. YOUTH ACCUSED OF MURDER

'I Want My Son to Give Himself Up'

VANCOUVER (CP)—A father today urged his son, charged with murder, to give himself up to police.

"I want my son to come to me or go to the police," said Tom Brown of Klemtu, B.C., after spending weary hours searching for his son, Thomas Clifford, 19, Friday night.

Thomas is charged with murder in the beating death Wednesday of Edwin John Douglas, 41, of Port Edward near Prince Rupert.

The elder Brown asked that this note be published:

"Sonny:

"Please contact your daddy. He is in town and looking for you, very anxious to see you. You will find him at the usual hotel. He wants to help you. Please come or phone, anytime."

Douglas' body was found Wednesday night. The younger Brown had been staying with him.

Mr. Brown, 40, chief of the Ki Taseo Indian Band at Klemtu, 150 miles south of Prince Rupert, flew here Friday after members of his tribe donated $160.

He searched movie houses, restaurants and hotels that his son was known to frequent. He gave up at 2 a.m. and asked for help.

He said his son had worked with him—fishing during the season and logging the rest of the year—until two months ago when he went to stay with Douglas.

"He left home because he wanted to make a few bucks. He wanted to get married in the fall. He has a girl in Klemtu."

Police found Douglas' car in Vancouver Thursday and started searching for the younger Brown here.

Brown said his son could not have driven the car because he has never driven and does not have a driver's license.

This business o' university students spyin' on what th' others are doin' ain't very nice—specially durin' examinations.

POLITICAL GENERAL STAFF FOR WEST PROPOSED BY EDEN

WETHERBY, Eng. (AP)—Sir Anthony Eden proposed today that the Western nations set up a political general staff to deal with Communist pressure around the world.

Calling for greater unity in the West, the former British prime minister suggested that political representatives of four to six nations meet either in Paris or Washington.

Such a staff or its equivalent, Eden said, "will have to come some day. The sooner, the better our chances of survival. Then perhaps the West will cease reacting to events and start to shape them."
